SAYS HE WAS TOLD TO SIGN WITH HUGHES

Given Instructions on 100-Plane Contract, Former Official Testifies.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 — A former wartime procurement officer testified today that top level officials directed him to sign a $70,274,666 contract with Howard Hughes to build 100 photo reconnaissance planes.

Albert J. Browning, a former brigadier general and now a vice president of the Ford Motor company, said the then undersecretary of war, Robert P. Patterson, directed him to sign after he had delayed action from April 28, 1941, to Aug. 1 of that year.

Browning told a senate war investigating subcommittee that Patterson ordered him to sign the Hughes contract "approved by Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers, deputy assistant chief of air staff." Meyers, now retired, is scheduled to testify concerning his connection with the matter.

Hughes himself was reported keeping in a downtown hotel preparatory to possible appearance later in the day to answer new evidence about his wartime contracts which the committee is investigating.

The Hollywood aircraft designer and film producer arrived at daybreak after an all night cross-country hop in his private plane, a converted Army bomber.

Hughes told newsmen he would wait until he is asked to testify before replying to an assertion of Senator Williams (R-Del.) that Hughes and his companies owe the government $5,919,921 in taxes for the war years.

Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich.) of the subcommittee has asked most witnesses about Meyers' connection with the Hughes contracts, both in hearings last summer and this week.

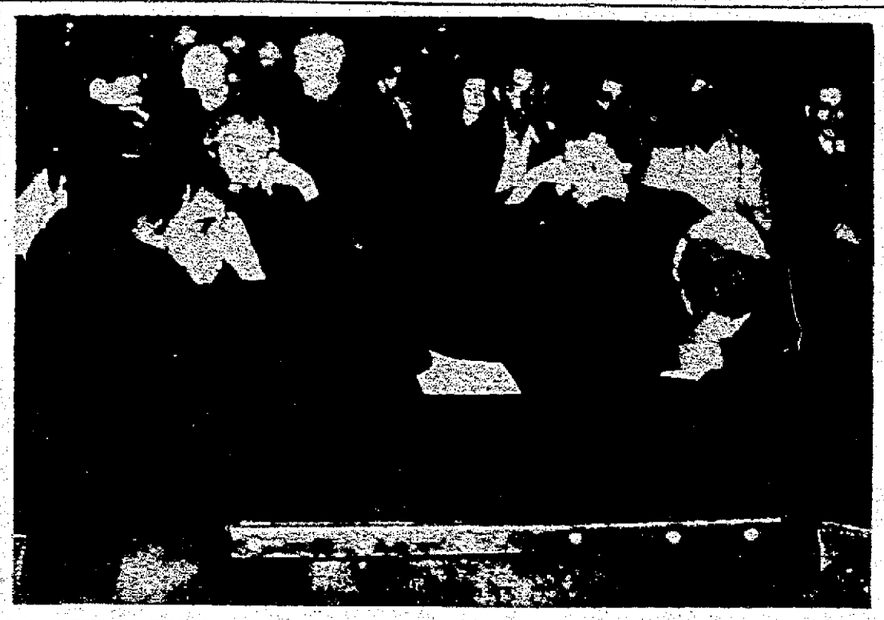

Meyers figured in yesterday's testimony when the committee produced 1944-45 budget bureau reports which urged transfer elsewhere of Hughes' $70,274,667 contract for 100 photo reconnaissance planes. This contract later was cut to three ships at $22,000,000.

Report Read

Brig. Gen. James F. Phillips read the committee a Meyers report which turned down the proposed transfer as impractical.

It was not certain when Meyers could get to the stand today, or whether Hughes would be called. Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.), chairman of the subcommittee handling the investigation told reporters "there is a possibility, even a probability," that the committee may be ready to call the millionaire plane builder late this afternoon.

Speculation has centered on Meyers for weeks as a possibly key witness. The committee was reported to have questioned him at length at closed sessions before the public hearing was resumed.

LINES HOLD IN POULTRY WAR

Crates Roll Into Washington from Firms Protesting Luckman Program.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7—Lines of the citizens food committee held fast today against an invading force of "Hens for Harry" and "Leghorns for Luckman."

The chicken, in crates of six to 20 birds, rolled into Washington to deliver a literal "squawk" from their growers against the poultryless-eggless Thursday part of the President's food conservation program.

Food Chairman Charles Luckman refused to budge.

While aides here shunted the stream of fowl to the Salvation Army for feeding the needy, Luckman declared in Los Angeles:

"Any time the Poultrymen's association or any one else can show us a better way to save grain than by having poultryless Thursdays we will be glad to adopt it."

At the White House, where three crates arrived addressed to President Truman, the only comment was that the free poultry would wind up on the dinner table at the Army's Walter Reed hospital.

One Dissenter

One large poultry firm on Maryland's eastern shore entered a dissent from the demonstration in a telegram to Luckman last night.

If anybody in the country has poultry he cannot sell, said the DelMarva Poultry Corp. of Salisbury, "please have them call us collect and we'll arrange to have it picked up within 24 hours."

Two Green county, N. Y., farmers—Thomas Albright of Athens and Henry J. Kreher of East Amherst—said they sent chickens to point up the fact that hens which stay on the farm for lack of buyers "will continue to eat precious grain needed in Europe."

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson is due for three of their crates, they said, along with four for Mr. Truman and three for the Luckman committee.

The first three crates which reached the White House yesterday were full of White Leghorns and Barred Rocks from Dryden and East Elmhurst, N. Y., and

Jury Gets Suit of Amish Man Against Church Leaders Today

By The Associated Press

WOOSTER, O., Nov. 7—Common Pleas Judge Walter Mougey today told a jury there is "no granted right" in the Amish church articles of faith giving officials of the sect "any authority to exercise control over the congregation."

In summation of the hearing of a $40,000 damage suit filed against jurors as he turned the case over to them:

"This is a very unusual case. Courts very seldom have a case like this.

"The eyes of many people today are upon you, and they are waiting to see what will be done. I caution you to exercise the utmost care and discretion because your verdict in this case will have in the future a great deal to do with our form of government."

The chief issue in the case, in which 33-year-old Andrew J. Yoder alleged he was reduced to a social outcast due to a church ban for using an automobile, concerned the question of Yoder's civil rights, the jurist said.

Judge's Charge

Judge Mougey charged the jury to determine "whether or not the defendants conspired together and invaded the plaintiff's civil rights causing him injury and loss, and, if so, what is the amount thereby.

"When one puts his belief into practice and interferes with civil rights of another, he continued, "it is unlawful. No person has the right to interfere with civil rights of another and then claim immunity because of religious practice.

* * *

"There is no granted right in these (Amish) articles of faith giving them (church officials) any authority to exercise control over the congregation. It apparently is a matter of conscience.

"The plaintiff had a right to withdraw from the church, to buy an automobile, and he also had the right to associate with his neighbors and to make his living free from any pressure," the judge concluded.

In his summation, Plaintiff Attorney George Barnard told the jury:

"You have been given a novel case and you have an important decision to make. You must decide whether progress shall be stopped because a few people go back 315 years and try to invoke on our form of government the curses of an ancient age. To the Amish of this community who want to be Americans in the truest sense of the word, this case is life or death."

Suit Against Leaders

Referring to the defendants, Barnard explained that the suit was not against the Amish church, but against the four individuals serving as officials of one congregation.

"This clique does not deserve the name of a church," Barnard contended. "It's a secret band and they want to maintain their dictatorship over a group of people, many of whom do not believe in persecuting their neighbor just because he transfers his membership from one congregation to another."

Yoder asserted he was boycotted after transferring his membership from the Helmuth district church to the more liberal Bunker Hill district congregation because he wanted to buy an automobile to transport his invalid daughter for medical treatment. Regulations of the Helmuth district church forbid ownership or operation of an automobile.

The four churchmen—Bishop John W. Heimuth of Beach City, Minister Isaac L. Miller of Apple Creek and John J. Nisley of Fredericksburg, and Deacon Emanuel D. Wengard of Beach City—conducted their own defense as Amish regulations forbid employment of attorneys.

Bishop Helmuth told the jury Yoder "made a confession of faith which stands before God" when he joined the Helmuth district church and that when he transferred his membership to the Bunker Hill district congregation he broke a church rule and thereby caused imposition of the ban or boycott.

Minister Nisley disclosed that his 66-year-old uncle, Menno Gingerich, had been under a boycott for 35 years because he had refused to shun his brother who had been expelled from the church.

"I am very sorry about my uncle, but he made a confession of faith when he joined the church and he broke a regulation," he explained.

Yoder, who is the father of seven children, previously had testified that after the boycott was announced all church members in Wayne and Holmes counties refused to have any dealings with him, to assist him in harvesting crops or eat at the same table.

GROUP TO ATTEND GRANGE CONVENTION

Marion County Delegations Will Go to Columbus.

Delegates and members of Marion county granges will attend the seventy-fifth annual convention of the Ohio State Grange which will open Monday, two days before the opening of the 10-day convention of the National Grange in Columbus. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brady of Grand Prairie Grange, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Williams of Bethlehem Grange, John Owen of Bowling Green Grange and Mrs. Elma Downs of Martel Grange will represent the county Grange at the state meeting. E. A. Williams, deputy master, and Mrs. Williams, county juvenile matron, will leave Sunday for Columbus. Mr. Williams is in charge of scheduling the classes for the Seventh degree work.

Five hundred members of granges in the county are registered for work in the seventh degree which will be conferred in the state Capitol building. A class of 15,000 persons will receive the degree, highest in Grange ritualism.

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson is to be present and receive the degrees. Joseph W. Fichter, state Grange master, will be the keynote speaker of the state convention in a session in the Neil House Monday night. Secretary Anderson will be the speaker for the banquet Tuesday night in the Neil House and other speakers will include Gov. Herbert and Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt. Officers and delegates of the National Grange will be guests.

The National convention will open at 2 p. m. Wednesday. National Grange Master Albert S. Goss will deliver the keynote address at 7:30 o'clock that night and at 9 o'clock the officers of the Ohio State Grange will confer the sixth degree.

"TRUTH DRIVE" PLAN REPORTED

U. S. Said To Be Considreing Steps To Counteract Red Propaganda.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7—Stung by the vigor of Russia's propaganda barrage, high government officials were reported today to be considering an intensified American "truth campaign" abroad.

At the same time it was learned that the state department is planning to ask congress, possibly during the approaching special session, for an additional $1,500,000 for its "Voice of America" and other foreign information programs.

These disclosures came on the heels of Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's declaration that the secret of the atom bomb "has long ceased to exist."

But it was other passages in Molotov's Red revolution anniversary speech which stirred the greatest resentment among officials here.

The caustic-tongued diplomat contended anew, for instance, that the United States is trying to ring Russia with air and naval bases. Molotov mentioned in this connection the American interest in Greenland, which all the American nations have declared to be a vital link in the western hemisphere defense chain.

In general the attacks of Molotov, Deputy Foreign Minister Vishinsky, and the Soviet press and radio seek to prove that the United States is out to start a war against the Soviet Union and that the other countries of the world should line up with the U.S.S.R. in opposition to virtually all phases of American foreign policy.

At the state department and elsewhere in the American government this line is regarded as a three-way device to (1) Rally people inside Russia behind the government; (2) Frighten the smaller nations into support of Soviet foreign policy, and (3) Obscure the direction and intent of Russia's own activities in such places as eastern Europe.

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 7—Russia's announced intention to boycott the United Nations "little assembly" was viewed by many delegates today as emphasizing the "real existence" of two worlds.

Sir Hartley Shawcross of Britain said if there was any doubt separate east and west worlds existed this was wiped out when the Soviet bloc announced yesterday it would boycott Secretary of State Marshall's plan for a year-around session of the assembly.

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 7—Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign minister, said today in a Russian language broadcast over United Nations facilities that "the Soviet union will continue in the future its struggle against any war propaganda and any instigators of a new war."

"The Soviet union," Vishinsky said, "is a faithful and consistent champion of peace and security for the peoples of the world, a champion of international cooperation."

MEDICINE SALESMAN KILLED

$19,000 Conservancy Tax Levied on County

When Marion property owners pay their December real estate taxes they will find included in the bill a special assessment levied by the trustees of the Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District.

The tax, estimated to raise nearly $19,000 in Marion county and approximately $300,000 in the 17-county conservancy district, is to be used for making preliminary surveys and drafting plans for the district's program, which affects large sections of Marion and Wyandot counties.

Notice of the special assessment has been received by County Auditor Harry V. Mounts. It will go on the next tax bills. The assessment is three-tenths of a mill and amounts to 30 cents on each $1,000 of property valuation.

Hits All Realty

It is levied against all real estate and all property of public utilities within the district, including railroads, electric companies, telegraph and telephone lines, gas transmission lines, pipe lines.

Accompanying the notice of the levy received by Auditor Mounts was a copy of a resolution authorizing the tax. The resolution was adopted by the unanimous vote of the three trustees of the conservancy district, E. F. Bierce of Chillicothe, A. J. Allman of Tiffin and Joseph Van Meter of Waverly.

The resolution points out that the Ohio Company, a Columbus banking house, has offered to loan the district $160,000 at one and one-half per cent interest and that the offer has been accepted. Receipts from the tax levy will be pledged to repay this loan. The notes are payable, the resolution states, on the following dates: $80,000, June 1, 1948, and $80,000, Dec. 1, 1948.

Authority for levying the tax is granted in the Ohio statute under which the conservancy district was formed.

The assessment against Marion county is the second highest in the district, exceeded only by Franklin county.

List of Assessments

A list of the counties in the district and the amounts estimated to be raised by the levy follows:

Marion $18,945, Delaware $9,471, Union $6,636, Madison, $8,292, Franklin $164,396, Pickaway $13,606, Ross $14,748, Fayette $8,523, Crawford $15,873, Sandusky $1,908, Scioto $3,336, Seneca $6,222, Wyandot $8,577, Morrow $3,696, Pike $3,828, Vinton $342, and Highland $4,821. Only portions of the last nine counties in the list are included in the conservancy district.

It is estimated the levy will raise $293,220 on a tax valuation in the district of $977,480,691.

This is the second special assessment placed against counties in the district. It is the first, however, to be levied as a tax. The other was a voluntary contribution asked from boards of county commissioners shortly after the district was organized in 1934. The total assessment at that time was $15,000 for the district and amounted to $943.25 for Marion county.

Protest Group Formed

Although officials of the conservancy district say no definite plans have been mapped, residents of Marion and Wyandot counties have formed protest associations to oppose the program they believe will flood large areas of farm land in the two counties.

Their principal opposition is to a summit lake which would link the Scioto and Sandusky rivers in northwestern Marion county and the southern part of Wyandot county. In a letter written last summer C. C. Chambers, chief engineer of the district, informed Lewis Anderson of near Meeker, protest association president, that the summit lake had not yet been decided on as a part of the program. The lake was proposed, he pointed out, in an early survey made by Prof. C. E. Sherman of Ohio State university, before the conservancy district was formed.

OHIO TO GET SCIOTO DEED

Land Bank Ready To Transfer Title to Marion Co. Land to Welfare Department.

The Federal Land Bank of Louisville notified Welfare Director Charles Sherwood in Columbus today the deed for a 1,243-acre section of the Scioto Ordnance Plant here was ready to be turned over to the state for use as an annex of the boys' industrial school at Lancaster, The Associated Press reported.

Sherwood said the only conditions attached to the transfer were that the state guarantee the money was available to pay the administrative costs of the transfer and for rehabilitation of the buildings.

Sherwood estimated transfer cost at $900, but said he would have to go before the state emergency board or a special session of the legislature, if one is called, for the $500,000 needed to rehabilitate the buildings.

The last legislature refused to appropriate the money because the state could not have the property immediately.

The section for which the state has been negotiating for the last year includes wooden buildings used for the hospital, barracks and administrative offices of the ordnance plant. The welfare department has plans to make the property a medium-security institution for the housing of older boys now held at Lancaster.

SEE BOOMERANG IN MOLOTOV'S BLAST

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 — Marshall plan storm signals flew over Capitol Hill today, but administration leaders credited Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov with unwitting but powerful help in their pre-session drive for congressional approval of a European recovery program.

Molotov's Moscow radio blast at the United States, in which he said that Russia's struggle for power "is just beginning," pinpointed for many lawmakers the anti-Communist color of proposed stop-gap and long-range economic aid.

Senator McGrath (D-R.I.), chairman of the Democratic national committee, said grimly that Molotov had defeated his own purpose if it was his aim to discourage American action to help the western European nations out side the Soviet orbit stay on their feet.

"Statements of this kind only serve to solidify the American people," the Rhode Island senator told a reporter.

On the Republican side, Senator Capper of Kansas, a foreign relations committee member, said he expects congress' answer will be to approve the assistance program which Secretary of State Marshall will sketch for senate and house committees Monday.

WARN AGAINST 'WARMONGERS'

Marshal Bulganin Says Drive Against Soviet Aims at New "Imperialist War."

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 7—Russia paraded her military might through Moscow's Red Square in commemoration of the Bolshevik revolution's 30th anniversary today amid renewed cries that "warmongers" are calling for a campaign against the Soviet Union and "making plans for a new imperialist war."

In a special broadcast beamed directly at the United States and Great Britain, the Moscow radio quoted Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, Soviet minister of the armed forces, as saying just before the parade began to the accompaniment of martial music by massed bands, that:

"After the second world war essential changes have taken place in the international situation. As a result of the war the system of capitalism has suffered a serious loss. The forces of democracy (Communism) and socialism have strengthened, but the forces of capitalism have weakened.

"The successes of the democratic camp (communists) give the warmongers no rest. Forgetting the lessons of the recent war, they are calling for a campaign against democracy (communism), against the Soviet Union, and making plans for a new imperialist war."

Voices Praise for Stalin

Bulganin was extravagant in his praise of Prime Minister Stalin, who apparently was still on vacation at a Black sea port, and of the armed forces of the U.S.S.R.

"The Soviet people and its armed forces, under the leadership of their leader and teacher of genius, Comrade Stalin, routed Hitlerite Germany and imperialist Japan," he declared from the tribune atop the tomb of Nikolai Lenin.

"This historically unprecedented victory proved that the Soviet army, armed with the most advanced, Stalinist military science and supplied with the most modern military equipment, is a first class army of our time."

The Soviet Union, Bulganin continued, "will continue to pursue its consistent policy of struggle for the peace and security of the peoples. The foreign policy of the Soviet Union finds ardent support from the whole of progressive mankind which does not want a new war and is striving for a lasting peace."

"Our glorious armed forces stand on guard for the October (1917 revolution) gains, on guards for the peaceful labor of Soviet peoples and the state interests of the motherland," the marshal declared.

Reports Growing Strength

"Soviet soldiers, understanding the importance and responsibility of their tasks and untiringly perfecting their military skill, are steadily mastering the military experience of the patriotic war, further advancing military science, and are gaining new achievements in the strengthening of our armed forces."

His speech echoed an order of the day he issued last night, in which he called for Russian armed forces to "be in constant militant preparedness" against "instigators of a new war."

It followed by only a few hours a speech by Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, who declared yesterday that the "secret of the atomic bomb ceased to exist a long time ago." He charged that the United States and Britain were making "a preparation for suggestion."

Molotov's assertion about the atomic bomb was greeted in London and in Washington by the feeling that he had disclosed nothing particularly new. Qualified American sources said the secret of the atom bomb was one thing, the know-how in making it another. They commented that Molotov specifically did not say Russia had the bomb.

REMEDITATION KEY TO MURDER VERDICT

By International News Service

BELLEFONTAINE, Nov. 7—The question of premeditation was paramount today in the first-degree murder trial of Roger Wilcox, 33, for the fatal shooting of Anna Webb Rothwell, 25, at Indian lake last May 28.

Williams, Indian Lake housepainter and handyman, pleaded guilty to the first-degree indictment yesterday as his trial opened before a three-judge panel. The defense, however, seeks to prove that he was incapable of the premeditated murder" of the Kenton woman who had been his housekeeper.

Milton Wilmot of St. Paris, testifying for the prosecution yesterday, said Williams rode in Wilmot's automobile to the resort restaurant where Mrs. Rothwell was employed.

Taking a gun from the glove compartment of Wilmot's car, according to the witness, Williams shot the victim in the left breast. Then, seeing that she was still alive, he placed the gun at her temple and fired again.

Over defense objections, the three judges, Elmer F. Goodwin of Logan county, Arthur D. Tudor of Hardin county and Chester Dalton of Hancock, visited the home in which Mrs. Rothwell was killed.

No Second Place For Stassen, He Declares

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 7—Harold E. Stassen, asserting that he is "running for first place," said last night that he would not accept the Republican vice presidential nomination in 1948.

Asked whether second place on a ticket headed by either Generals Dwight D. Eisenhower or Douglas MacArthur would be acceptable to him, the former Minnesota governor replied:

"No, I am running for the presidential nomination."

He was interviewed by reporters at La Guardia field before leaving for Minneapolis.

Cool Weather Moves East from Rockies

By The Associated Press

The first cold snap of the season chilled residents from the Rockies to the Texas Panhandle today.

A blowing snowstorm hit parts of Minnesota, and there was snow on the ground measuring from one to eight inches in the central Rockies and in sections of Nebraska, South Dakota and Minnesota.

Tempertures dipped well below freezing over many sections of the midwest and into northwest Texas as the cool weather moved eastward from the Rockies.

Prizes To Be Awarded Best Units in Armistice Day Parade

As part of the Armistice day parade this year, which is under the sponsorship of the United Veterans and Civic Council, appropriate ribbons and plaques will be awarded, by class, to those units which, in the opinion of the judges, present the best marching appearance, those units which have the highest percentage of their membership in some formation of the parade, and also to the best band and best float.

The parade, which is held each year in keeping with the celebration of Armistice day, will be held at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday night. The line of march will be from Oiney avenue east on Center to Vine street, south on Vine to Church street, and west on Church to Orchard where the divisions will disband.

Larry Larsen, as grand marshal, will head the parade which will be composed of the following divisions and units:

First Division—Colors of Co. C, Caledonia High school band, Marion police, Ohio State Highway Patrol, Marion firemen, city and county officials, Co. C Ohio National Guard and U. S. Army Recruiting service.

Second Division—Eagles band, all veterans organizations and their auxiliaries, and transportation for veterans who cannot march.

Third Division—Harding High school band, all civic organizations, and organizations from the Marion schools.

Fourth Division—Claridon High school band, Boy Scout troops, and Pleasant school band.

Fifth Division—All civic and organizational floats.

Boys Must Wash Ripe Tomatoes from Cruiser

Two youths aged 16 and 17 years were fined $15 and ordered to wash the police cruiser next Saturday morning, by Juvenile Judge Edward J. Ruzzo, yesterday afternoon in juvenile court. A third youth, who, it developed in the hearing had just passed 18, was ordered to pay a part of the fines assessed against the other two boys, and assist in restoring the car.

The two youths were taken into custody earlier in the week and the third ordered to appear for hearing, when they were discovered throwing over-ripe tomatoes at passing automobiles. One of the cars, it developed, was the police cruiser.

The two boys spent two nights in the detention home. The 16-year-old boy's payment of part of the fine and his assistance in washing the car was ordered by the court to balance the penalty.

DEAN OF CONGRESS 84

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7—The oldest man in congress is 84 today—and he's still setting the youngsters a dizzy pace. This 200-pound, six-foot-two giant of a man was born during the war between the states, and got his name from the Confederate general his father followed in battle. He is Robert Lee Doughton of North Carolina.

3 Young People Die In Columbus Crash

By International News Service

COLUMBUS, Nov. 7—Three young people were killed early today when their automobile struck a bridge over the Big Walnut creek south of Columbus between Obetz and Groveport.

Those killed, all of Columbus, were listed by sheriff's deputies as Lenore Held, 20, her sister, Lillian, 17, and Pearl Clutter, 22.

The driver of the car, Glenn W. Chestwood, 22, escaped with a cut neck and bruises and lacerations. He was released after treatment.

Deputies said the Chestwood auto was traveling south when it apparently missed the road and hit the end of the bridge.

RADAR ECHO FROM MOON REPORTED BY SCIENTISTS

By The Associated Press

SYDNEY, Nov. 7—Three Australian scientists reported today that they had received radar echoes from the moon on a listening device set up at Hornsby near here.

The scientists—F. J. Kerr, C. A. Shain and C. S. Higgins of the council of industrial research—used the Australian radio station at Shepparton, Victoria, in their attempt to send signals to the moon, some 238,857 miles distant.

The scientists said the listening post at Hornsby, near Sydney, picked up "definite and compact echoes," which they believe to be radar waves turned back by the moon.

DEFENDS HIGH COST OF STATE HOSPITALS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 7—Improvement shown by 80 per cent of mental patients treated at state receiving hospitals justifies the high cost of operating such institutions, Welfare Director Charles E. Sherwood asserted today.

In an address prepared for final sessions of the 57th annual Ohio Welfare Conference, Sherwood conceded that the cost of patient care in receiving hospitals was higher than in state hospitals but added:

"From the number of persons who have been sent back from receiving units after short periods of successful treatment, it has been cheaper for the state and its taxpayers to follow this process than to permit persons with incipient mental disturbances to go unattended and some day find their way into hospitals for prolonged treatment."

He said the state now has six receiving hospitals and that another unit will be established shortly in Dayton.

Receiving hospital activities will be supplemented by mental hygiene clinics, the first of which Sherwood said will be opened next month in Miami county, followed by another in Butler county.

LOST 30 POUNDS WITH THIS HOME RECIPE

Rennel is the original grapefruit juice recipe for taking off ugly fat. It's simple. Just go to your druggist and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Rennel. Pour the contents into a pint bottle—add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves—if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles; just return the empty bottle for your money back. You need never know a hungry moment while taking Rennel—no starvation diet—no printed diet list to buy—no vitamins to fortify you against weakness while going hungry, for you WON'T be hungry.

Here is what Mrs. C. Horweded, 9618 Larnder Ave., Cleveland, Ohio, says about Rennel: "I have been taking your wonderful product for some time and plan to continue to take it as I have never felt better in my life and I am reducing the easy way. I have lost 30 pounds and am losing an average of 2 to 3 pounds a week." Don't be switched to another product, get genuine Rennel.

Improper Influence Charged in Beer Ban

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 7—An attorney for a Detroit brewery says "improper influence" is the reason why the Ohio board of liquor control doesn't allow beer to be sold in seven-ounce bottles in this state.

Appearing before the board at a public hearing yesterday, Stanton Adams charged it was "representing the breweries and not the public" and was attempting to keep "outside brewers" from shipping their products into Ohio.

"Pressure groups which use their influence in a sinister way are more dangerous to this country than Communists are," the attorney, who represents the Goebel Brewing Co., asserted.

He said 95 per cent of the American public were able to buy beer in seven-ounce containers and that the bottles were among the standard sizes for which specifications have been issued by the Brewers Foundation.

LITTLE SANDUSKY SERVICE

FORMER PALACE GUARD DIES

By The Associated Press

CUYAHOGA FALLS, O., Nov. 7—Theodor Maas, 86, who said he served as an honor guard at the emperor's palace in Germany before coming to this nation in 1895, died at his home last night. Retired, he formerly operated a meat market in Akron for 25 years.

40-Hour Week To Close Kitchens in Fire Houses

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 7—Approval of a 40-hour week for Columbus firemen means abolition of living quarters and kitchens in fire houses, says Chief Clarence Ogborn.

Ogborn estimated the new work week would be in operation "no later than the middle of next month" and would mean that firemen no longer would be on duty in 24-hour tours—eating and sleeping at the fire house.

City officials predicted "drastic reduction beyond the point of safety" in fire protection as soon as the short week begins. Closing all but 11 city fire houses was forecast.

Ogborn estimated 253 more men would be needed and said only 57 additional men were on the civil service eligibility list.

TO FORM NEW PARISH

By The Associated Press

MIDDLETOWN, O., Nov. 7—A fourth Roman Catholic parish will be organized here soon, the chancery of the Cincinnati archdiocese announced yesterday. The Rev. Paul Golembriewski, former assistant pastor of Holy Trinity parish and an Army Air Force chaplain during the war, has been appointed to organize the parish, which will be named St. Peter Claver.

SOVIET FOOD OUTPUT HIGH

1947 Harvest Raises Index at Surprising Rate, Says Report.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Nov. 7 — Russia's 1947 harvest has pushed up the output index of the Soviet food industry at a surprising rate.

A statement by the Moscow News said:

"Plan fulfillment by the enterprises of the USSR's ministry of food industry was 101.5 per cent in the first quarter of the year. The second quarter was 110 per cent. The third was 120. The fourth quarter is expected to top last year's figure for the same period by 39 per cent."

The percentages for the first three quarters mean this is the extent by which the original goals have been surpassed. The reference to the last quarter is a comparison with the fourth quarter of 1946, but it is obvious that it, too, will be in excess of the target set for the quarter.

(Announcements of Soviet production gains are almost always made in percentage comparisons and total figures are seldom given."

The Moscow News announcement said the grain harvest is 58 per cent higher than 1946 and that stocks of raw materials are expected to be "double and even triple on last year's."

Based on the Moscow News announcement the following conclusions can be made:

Retail trade in foodstuffs is steadily mounting.

Consumers find it easy to obtain many kinds of food they were unable to buy last year. Besides rationed goods, all kinds of confectionery, grocery and delicatessen products are becoming available in bigger lots.

Trade in unrationed bakery products is being expanded.

Frozen fruits and diatetic foodstuffs are once more on the market. The output of concentrates and vitamins has been considerably expanded.

"There is still," said this story, "not an abundance of all foodstuffs, but it is one of the most important tasks of the five-year plan to create this abundance."

Bamboo is the world's tallest grass.

CITIES TO SPONSOR BILLS FOR RELIEF

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 7—Seeking a solution to the financial dilemma confronting some Ohio municipalities, officials of the state's larger cities will push three bills if a specal session of the state legislature is called.

The measures, agreed on yesterday at a meeting here of the Ohio Association of Cities, call for redistribution of the gasoline tax, redistribution of the sales tax surplus and authorization for cities to put operating levies before voters at special elections, with only a bare majority needed for passage.

Mayor Thomas A. Burke of Cleveland and Mayor James A. Rhodes of Columbus were appointed to discuss the bills with Gov. Thomas A. Herbert before the next meeting of the association in Dayton, on Nov. 20.

The group also selected Vice Mayor Michael V. Di Salle of Toledo to take up the financial plight of some Ohio cities at a meeting of the executive committee of the Ohio Grange in Columbus next Tuesday.

Anti-Saloon League Leader To Fight Charge

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 7—Rev. Howard B. Pilchard, 65-year-old Anti-Saloon league field representative charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, plans "to fight this charge to the end."

Attorney Thomas A. Farrell issued a flat denial last night that Mr. Pilchard had taken so much as one drink before he was arrested Wednesday night. Patrolmen Sidney O'Dell and Kenneth Pleiss said his automobile struck a parked car.

"There has been a horrible mistake, I am sure," Farrell said.

Of a $200 bond posted by a bartender, August Hoff, a former tavern owner, Farrell said:

"Mr. Hoff is a personal friend of Mr. Pilchard. He asked me to defend Mr. Pilchard and rushed to the bank to get $200.

Judge J. Parker Edwards continued the police court case until Nov. 14.

$50 SENT FOR EDUCATION FUND OF HANDLESS BOY

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 7—As Gov. Thomas J. Herbert's mail was being opened yesterday, out came a letter with a $50 bill pinned to it.

It was from John E. Lyons, a Middleport real estate dealer, who wrote the money was for the education of two-year-old Tommy Herbert of Cleveland (no relation to the governor), who lost both hands when he was run over by a switch engine.

Lyons wrote further that he had read about the governor visiting Tommy, and expressed hope the child might some day "be governor of Ohio."

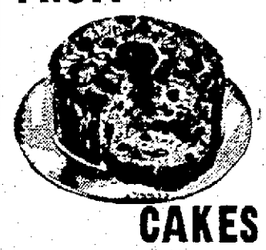

AUTO MECHANIC HURT

BUCYRUS, Nov. 7 — Plastic surgery was performed on the face of Lowell Arnold, 21, automobile mechanic, at City hospital Thursday for severe injuries received while at work at the J. E. Huggins garage Wednesday. Arnold suffered a crushed nose, fractured jaw and other facial injuries when a hoist chain broke on a truck under which he was working dropping the truck, the axle of which fell on his nose.

Winners of the individual contests will compete later in a county contest Local winners will be presented bronze medals offered by the Ohio Council of Churches which each year sponsors Prince of Peace events in local churches, and county, district and state contests, with the final prizes consisting of cash and college scholarships.

A program of special music has been arranged for the service at New Bloomington. Speakers will be Jean Harrison and Virgie James, and presenting the musical features, arranged by Mrs. Dorothy Lovett, will be Ruth Ann Rothfuss, piano prelude; Dorothy and Joanne Drake, vocal duet accompanied by Susan Kinsler, "My Task"; Joanne Drake, Margaret Moury, Richard Dutton and Robert Boblenz, vocal quartet, "Whispering Hope"; and high school girls' glee club, "Softly and Tenderly" and "Hark, the Vesper Hymn is Stealing." Rev. W. S. Dibert, pastor, will preside.

Nine pupils from the LaRue High school will take part in the contests there. At the Methodist church the contestants will be Jean Warner, Mary Jane Barden, LaRoma Kale, Dorothy Knapp and Dwilla Harvey. Rev C. A. Hutchison, pastor, will preside. Contestants at the Baptist church will be Demeral Albert, Juanita Dempster, Phyllis Ann Virden and Mildred Monk Rev. Lowell Parish, pastor, will be in charge.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Improperly-Chewed Food Can Impede Digestive Process.

We tend to think of digestion as beginning in the stomach. Really, however, the first step in this important process takes place in the mouth when the food is broken up by the teeth and mixed with saliva.

How important it is that food be prepared in this way before it reaches the stomach is shown by the growing evidence that many cases of gastritis, particularly in people between 40 and 60 years of age, are due to inability to chew food in the proper way.

The lining membrane of the stomach is a delicate and remarkable tissue. Though very thin, it is normally capable of resisting the strong acids which are necessary to the digestion of meats—acids which are secreted by the many glands imbedded in the numerous folds of the lining membrane.

When this lining becomes inflamed, the work of the stomach is interfered with, and a condition known as gastritis exists.

A recent survey of a large number of people suffering from symptoms affecting the stomach and bowels shows that fully one-half of those with gastritis had trouble in chewing their food.

Some of these people had lost all their teeth and had failed to replace them with false teeth. Others had lost all molar or chewing teeth and still others had lost enough of the teeth on each side to make chewing impossible.

When unchewed food gets into the stomach, its lining membrane is irritated simply by the mechanical action of coarse balls of food. Not only this but heavier muscular contractions of the stomach and excessive amounts of digestive acids are required to handle food in this unchewed condition. Naturally both of these things increase the irritation already present. The lining of the stomach becomes a deep red color and its folds are swollen and tender.

Of course, other factors may contribute to the stomach disturbance. Any infection in the teeth, tonsils, sinuses or elsewhere may contribute to the development of gastritis.

As a general rule, it is not difficult to make a diagnosis of gastritis. An examination of the stomach secretions usually gives some evidence. In addition, the taking of X-ray plates and direct examination of the lining membrane with the gastroscope are helpful. The gastroscope is an instrument made up of a tube with lights which can be passed directly into the stomach through mouth

From this study, it seems entirely probable that failure to chew food properly may be the start of stomach inflammation which may later bring about a number of serious conditions. Of course, one reason for failure to chew the food sufficiently is the loss of a sufficient number of molar teeth to make chewing difficult. The most common cause is eating too fast

Therefore, when teeth are lost, they should be promptly replaced, and if for some reason it is necessary to extract all the teeth, there should be no delay in having proper dental plates made.

Dark clouds so often veil the sky,
But though my sea be smooth or rough,
The Lord knows why and that's enough.

I may not know why death should come,
To take the dear one from my home,
But though mine eyes with tears be dim,
The Lord knows why—I'll trust in Him.

So though I may not understand
The leadings of my Father's hand,
I know of all He has the key,
He understands each mystery.

Yep, That's Right

RUSSIA'S official concern about the United States making a secret of the A-bomb is undoubtedly sincere. Likewise sincere is the Russian declaration that there's no secret about the bomb any longer. The secret now lies elsewhere.

The instant the bomb was used, it ceased to be a laboratory secret and became a manufacturing secret. Hundreds, perhaps thousands, of scientists were able to handle the problem of creating an atomic explosion—or to find the answer if given a little more time. But only one nation then and probably only one nation now could create an atomic bomb. It was not, after all, American brains and skill that did the basic research in the field; foreign scientists were responsible for that. America's contribution was the manufacturing resources to make a laboratory effect become a weapon of war and a potential implement of peace.

It is likely that the Russians know how to make an atomic explosion by this time. It is unlikely they know how to make an atomic bomb. When they express concern about the United States keeping its secret, the proper response is, "Yep, that's right." Russia had a chance under the Baruch proposal, published in June, 1946, to share with all other nations the trusteeship of atomic energy. It scuttled that gesture of good faith, as it has scuttled every other gesture of good faith since the end of the war.

Afterthought on the Bonus

BY AN overwhelming majority, Ohio voters have approved a bonus for veterans. Yet among veterans themselves there were many outspokenly opposed to a bonus at this time.

No one ever questioned the debt of gratitude owed to veterans, but even among those who voted for the measure were many who questioned the adequacy and wisdom of paying it in inflated dollars. Veterans' tax dollars will repay a substantial portion of this. Something more tangible than cash in pocket, such as low-cost housing, would have been a better token of gratitude.

Like Ohio, New York State decided on a cash bonus, although its maximum will be $250. New York has gone farther than Ohio in housing aid by assisting veterans in forming cooperatives, with advice on financing, site acquisition and construction.

Laying cash on the line doesn't end Ohio's obligation to the veteran. There should be a program to help him use his bonus wisely.

The Big Debate Ends

WITH a mere 200-word speech by delegate Vishinsky, the great UN warmongering debate has ended. The result was a compromise resolution condemning all forms of war propaganda and urging active steps to promote peace and good will.

No delegate was opposed to condemning war propaganda and all agreed peace and good will were good things. The steps toward achieving the latter were left to another time.

The UN assembly plans to adjourn in three weeks. Its tangible accomplishments have been nil. Every move has been checkmated. Delegates have been so plied with bombastic rhetoric of the Union Square soapbox type that phrases like "warmongering rascals" and "bloodthirsty profiteers" have lost their impact. In the rest of the session they might consider condemnation of the earthquake and the man-eating shark. On those they might agree.

Displaced Persons

EUROPE needs 1,130,000 workers and has 1,500,000 displaced persons, the UN economic commission for Europe reports. Although the occupational skills of the DP's haven't been classified, it is probable that a substantial part of this manpower shortage could be filled from this great reservoir.

Meanwhile, the Stratton bill to admit 400,000 DP's to the United States has been criticized by Russia's UN delegates. They lit upon Representative Stratton's phrase about our "using the muscles of displaced persons to meet our manpower shortage" as more "slave labor" talk, professing not to know the day of cheap immigrant labor is gone in America.

America's principal interest lies in seeing that the displaced persons are rehabilitated. If Europe needs them as a working force it should have first claim to them if they can be assimilated as self-respecting citizens of their adopted countries. Otherwise homes will have to be found for them elsewhere in the world

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Sokolsky Tells Why He Didn't Vote.

THE most important right of an American citizen is to vote in elections; to choose or dismiss public officials. No election is too unimportant for the citizen to perform this duty. It is the fulfillment of the dignity of citizenship. Yet this year I did not register; I did not vote. I feel pretty bad about that.

The principal contenders in New York City were two candidates for a judgeship. All of the other candidates for judicial honors were accepted by all the political parties. Benjamin J. Rabin, the Democratic candidate, was endorsed by the Liberal party; J. Edward Lumbard, Jr., the Republican candidate, was endorsed by the American Labor party. I accept it as my personal judgment that the American Labor party, which is controlled by Vito Marcantonio, is the local arm of the Communist party, and vote accordingly. "The Daily Worker," organ of the Communist party, instructed its regimented followed to vote on the American Labor party line, and that is enough for me. As the only candidate on that line who was being contested was J. Edward Lumbard, the Republican, obviously the Communists were being instructed to vote for a Republican.

Nothing To Choose From

Neither candidate represented the best that either party could select for judicial office. I was not stirred to vote for the Democrat whose career was the private choice of Ed Flynn, the Bronx satrap; I could not vote for the Republican who had a Communist endorsement. I did not vote at all. I did not even register. Too often the citizen is presented with just that unfortunate choice. He must accept the lesser of two evils, which is accepting nothing at all.

The Republican candidate was trouncingly defeated, which is exactly what he deserved. When the Republicans join the Communists, they deserve to be defeated. When the Democrats join the Communists, they deserve to be defeated. It is a safe guide for any voter to reject a candidate who is accepted by the Reds and the Pinks. As a friend put it, "If he is good enough for Marcantonio, he is not good enough for the American voter."

One Accomplishment

I was sorry that I had not registered because I should have enjoyed voting against that mathematical madness called proportional representation, which was overwhelmingly defeated. This is a European importation, foisted on this town by La Guardia and other do-gooders who, back when such madness was popular, hoped to produce honesty in government by astronomy. So they devised P. R. and never has any city been so cursed with a city council that represented nobody and played at circus for its own amusement. Well, that was thrown out without my vote.

The American Labor party and the Liberal party favored the continuance of proportional representation, but in spite of all their combined efforts enough American votes were available in this confused city to throw that importation into the ashcan. The Liberals threaten to raise the issue again next year, but it will not matter. Americans prefer representative government to the bloc system which gives every advantage to those who represent no one and nothing.

Can't Go Two Ways

The Republicans deserve their defeat. They cannot blow hot and cold. When as a national party they are fighting Communists, they can only combine with them on local issues and in local elections at their peril. It is hypocrisy to have the Thomas committee at work in Washington and to accept an American Labor party endorsement in New York. I am told that a few Republican congressional committees have employed some of the pink-finger brotherhood as research experts, investigators, etc., on the ground that it takes a thief to catch a thief. The Republican congressional committees that pursue this policy will, of course, discover that their investigators are members of a union whose object it is to betray and destroy the United States.

The old adage is still sound: "If you play around tar, you are liable to get smeared." Neither the Republican nor the Democratic parties can morally justify these alliances, made to achieve local successes, which strengthen the Reds and give them power and kudos. Whenever they try that gimmick, they deserve to be defeated.

Elections Aren't Pulled Out of a Hat

The Fashion Foundation of America has named President Truman one of the nation's best-dressed men on account of his choice of headgear.

The President has a hat for every occasion, the Foundation implies, as well as for the ring.

Incidentally, Mr. Truman has shown up in a cap in a couple of recent newsreels, thus frightening his political advisers who remember what happened to Lemke in '36.

The truth of the matter is, of course, that his cap had nothing more to do with Lemke's defeat in '36 than the brown derby did with Al Smith's in '28. Indeed, I doubt that Lemke could have carried Texas in a sombrero or West Virginia in a miner's cap.

At any rate, Democratic chieftains are reported gratified by this latest recognition which has come his way. Presumably, he's got nothing to worry about now except the bare-headed vote.

That and the fact that a lot of people still place more store by what's in a man's head than on it.

Dangerous Statistics

By Raymond Moley

THE forthcoming special session of congress will be a battle of statistics, with the shadow of politics always in the background. Because of that shadow and because no one is eager to deny the need of helping Europe, Republican leaders will vote relief. But the amount and method of administration will be the subject of lively debate.

The most probable line of attack on the administration's maximum requests will be the questioning of the figures supplied by European governments. There will be good hunting in that field, for the inaccuracy of European figures can easily be demonstrated.

Dr. Dennis A. Fitzgerald, secretary of the International Emergency Food Council (IEFC), recently issued a report on the world food situation which will be vigorously questioned. The IEFC, composed of representatives of many nations, clearly has a strong tendency to express foreign food needs in the most urgent terms. It is also anxious to convince the world that the IEFC should not be dissolved this winter.

Previous Miscalculations

The IEFC, its predecessor, the combined food board, and its near relative, the food and agricultural organization of the UN. (FAO), have been wrong several times in the past. In May, 1946, the FAO predicted that the world's needs for imports of wheat and wheat equivalents would be about 30,000,000 metric tons and that the available exports of bread grains would be 18,000,000 to 20,000,000 tons, leaving a deficit of 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 tons. This estimated deficit was later leveled off at 10,000,000 tons. Months later, available exports which included all kinds of grain for human food, were found to be nearly 28,000,000 tons—a figure which the FAO itself confirmed.

The combined food board early in 1946 reported a most critical prospect owing to drouth in seven large areas. It said that the deficit would be 12,000,000 tons from February to July of that year. Former President Hoover was called into action, after a trip around the world, he reduced the FAO "requirements" by about two thirds. Hoover stressed American exports and the redistribution of available supplies of other countries. Mass starvation was avoided.

This did not deter the IEFC, in February of this year, from predicting that there would be a need for a total volume of grain exports of 1,000,000,000 bushels. Grain traders knew this was an impossible figure. As a consequence, this estimate was certainly not without influence in a big rise in prices.

The present report of the IEFC predicts a requirement of 50,000,000 tons of food and feed, with an available export total of 32,000,000 tons. The estimated deficit of 18,000,000 tons is highly questionable. Recently, the IEFC reduced the estimate of probable world grain exports in 1947-48 to about 29,000,000 tons. It is impossible to estimate with any clarity what the world's crops will be ten months from now. We must wait until, later on, we know the relative acreage in various countries which are given over to food and to feed. A reliable British trade paper, Brownhall's "Corn Trade News" said two weeks ago that "among the avoidable factors now influencing the Chicago market" is "inflated estimates of the world wheat needs published by the FAO."

The danger in such figures as those of the IEFC rises from the gross under-statement of the official crop statistics of all countries where there has been rationing for some time. Farmers who are compelled to sell their crops at a maximum price are thus placed under the heaviest sort of pressure to understate their supply, to hide it away or to dispose of it to black markets.

Enough of these pitfalls in statistics derived from foreign sources are known to Congress to assure a healthy skepticism in the special session.

Inflation Emergency

By Mark Sullivah

WASHINGTON

PRESIDENT TRUMAN, in announcing his call for a special session of congress the coming month, said: "I shall recommend a program for dealing with inflation, high prices, and the high cost of living." (In addition to the other purpose of the session, foreign aid.)

Such a program, and action by congress on it, has the urgency of emergency. Prices and cost of living are extortionately high and going higher. What goes with this, the threat of inflation and inflation in actual motion, is a national emergency.

About the program which Mr. Truman says he will send to congress, many things are necessary, of course. One is that the program should appeal to the people as sound. For the threat of inflation is approaching a stage in which public psychology becomes important. Unless the people have confidence in the President's program and in what congress does, unless they feel that high prices and inflation are really going to be checked, there might arise the extremely dangerous stage of inflation, fear on the part of the people that it would go on. That is, in effect, a fear about the future value and purchasing power of money. In the total inflations that have taken place in several countries during recent years, when the stage of popular fear about the future purchasing power of the currency arose, the final collapse was in sight.

Can Be Avoided

There is no such widespread fear in America. It need not arise if the President recommends, and congress adopts, a program for checking high prices that is effective and convincing to the people. That Mr. Truman knows the necessity is shown by his calling congress to deal with it. If the President's program is to be convincing, it must be comprehensive, it must deal with all the causes of high prices.

One of the largest causes consists of policies and actions of the administration itself. These policies have been mainly two. One was the promotion of higher wage rates in 1945. This policy has been ended; the administration does not now promote wage rates.

The other government policy entering into high prices is price support for farm products, food. This policy is being carried on actively, the immense government machinery that carries it on is in full operation. This year and up to the present day the government has bought immense quantities of farm products for the direct and avowed purpose of price support. (In addition to supporting prices by methods other than direct purchase.)

List of Products

The quantities of farm products the government has bought and now has on hand is here printed in a list that covers most of the products, though not all. The quantities given are as of about three weeks ago. (Other commodities not mentioned here are bought for purposes other than price support.)

The government has on hand 28.4 million pounds of dried eggs, and 61.4 million pounds of frozen eggs, most of them bought last spring for the purpose of supporting the price.

It has 207 million pounds of dried skimmed milk bought during the present year.

It has on hand 456.7 million pounds of wool, of which 113 million pounds have been bought during this year.

Of potatoes, the government has bought so far this year, for the purpose of supporting the price, 15.4 million bushels and has on hand 818 thousand bushels. It has on hand 24,984 bushels of sweet potatoes.

It has contracted to buy 112,500 tons of dried fruits. It has bought, in order to support the price, a quantity of peanuts, the figure is not available.

Inflation Effect On Bonds

One of the dangers of inflation inherent in this price support policy can be seen in its relation to savings bonds. The government, through one agency, the treasury, urges people to buy bonds. What the treasury says in recommendation of these bonds is true, and the encouragement of saving is useful. The buying by the public to the extent of some 30 million persons, is a national service.

But another agency of government, the department of agriculture, follows a policy which has contributed to reducing the purchasing power of the money put into the bonds. A dollar put into a bond two years ago has today a purchasing power for the buying of food or some other commodies, of some 70 cents, as to some commodities less. The bond buyer has suffered detriment through a policy of the government that sells him the bonds.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The Elmer Twitchell Credo for Americans

I must be a screwball, a base reactionary and a fellow completely out of date: I belong to nothing I am ashamed of.

I am so "old-hat" I don't mind answering yes or no to "Are you a member of the Communist party?"

If I am not allowed to read a 5,000 word statement before replying to the simple question, "Have you the right time?" it is okay.

I am the kind of a heel who doesn't think my constitutional rights are being scuttled if a committee of the Congress of the United States of America wants to know if I set the orphan asylum afire, skinned the cat or tried to steal second with the bases full.

* * *

The evidence that I am a twirp and a pest is completely against me: I don't instinctively distrust a legislator because he has been named on a committee which the government thinks necessary to get at some facts in a crisis.

I don't think the name "Committee on Un-American Activities" is alone enough to brand any group of duly-elected legislators corrupt, small-time, narrow-minded, ignorant and untrustworthy.

I am such an old fogey I don't think "This is a witch hunt" should be yelled at the completion of the third word in the query "Will you take the stand?"

I hold the quaint notion that my ideas on government, the social and economic system and the state of the union may be sound even if they were not obtained at any cocktail party by the "Aren't most people stupid" type of intelligentsia.

Even if I seem a little befuddled by the rapid fire conversations and the sizzling-platter opinions thrown off by the pop-off intellectuals, I am not 100 per cent embarrassed.

* * *

I guess I have been Rip Van Winkle's sleeping partner: I still get my ideas about America from history books and my personal observations of trends, not from noisy clambakes thrown by the bright boys and girls who are willing to do and die at the Stork Club for the downtrodden, and will charter a private transport anytime to show how their hearts break for a guy whose bicycle has just had a flat tire, presumably due to Wall Street conspirators.

I am clearly a punk, since I do not confuse freedom with the all night license, the free pass, the season ticket, the second helping and the right to denounce the government or any elected government agent any time, anywhere, under suitable Klieg lights.

There is something all wrong with me: I still believe in the American system after leaving an indoor barbecue held for the loose expression of opinions by those who not only bite the hand that feeds them but start gnawing at the wrist even as the tuna fish sandwiches are passed.

And, boy, am I nuts! Say, fella, I can admit there are flaws in the American system without tying up with any foreign "ism" promoting the idea that it should be torn down, taken apart and reassembled by apprentice rebuilders of the world.

Okay, warden, I'm ready.

Homecoming

By Truman Twill

It has been suggested that a few words about homecoming would be in order at this season of the year, when every weekend is someboogy's homecoming somewhere, but it's hard to decide . . .

"Oh hello there, Pugsy, didn't recognize you for a minute. Too much additional frontage. Long time no see, hay kid? What happened to that idea you had of keeping your old pal posted, fella? Yeah, I know. Too busy. That's what they . . . hay, there's Al! Who's the female refugee with him though? You suppose that's what he married. Al!

"Ya old son-of-a-gun, gosh it's great to see ya, kid. When'd ya get in, pal? Oh, excuse me. A real pleasure. Any friend of Al's is a friend of Eta Bita Pi, and that goes double for Al's wife. Congratulations, ya old bachelor. Yeah, I'm married too. Missus is over in the car with the kid. Yeah, we got a kid. Finest boy you ever saw. Shows signs of being a halfback. Hay, there's Agnes Toohey! That one over there, in the red coat—the one with the long, long look. By the way, she still carrying the torch for Joe? Haven't seen him around. Hi Agnes!

"It's good to see ya, sweetheart—sweetheart of Bita Pi, that is. You're looking just like a fresh man again, remember how she looked. Al, Agnes, this is Missus Al. Missus Al, this is . . . say I forgot to ask whether it's till the same old Agnes . . . can't tell with those gloves on. Take 'em off and let's spar a few rounds, like in the old days huh? Hay, there's Louie. Hasn't changed a bit. Wouldn't be homecoming without Louie. Hay Louie!

"Wait up for your old roommate, ya low-down pilferer. Where's your seat at the game? Where's the missus? Bring your kids? Say, ya must struck oil, fella. Fancy drapes. Looks like a $10 necktie too. Hay, there's Elmer. (Look, old chum, we'll get together after the game and fry a few reminiscences.) Elmer!

"Why you old chicken thief, you. Somebody said you were going to sit this one out. But not old Elmer. He couldn't stay away. No sir, not Elmer. Hay, there's Emma. Yoohoo, Emma. Wait up for grampaw . . . whoops, there's my missus and the kid. So long, folks. Be seeing you at the game. We'll get together afterward and have fun hay. There's Jack. And Jim. And Jack's wife. Nope, it's Jack's wife all right but that ain't Jack. That's Fred, the bird she almost married. And there's old Fishface and Goober and She and . . ."

On second thought, it doesn't seem like such a hot idea to write anything about homecoming. Too gruesome.

Club Federation Program Is Given At Hotel Harding

THE answer to a full life for one's self and to share others was given by Mrs. Marian Foster Smith of Saxonburg, Pa. in her talk before the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs and patrons last night at Hotel Harding. The ballroom was filled to capacity, chairs were placed on the mezzanine and the platform served to seat a number of persons making up the large audience gathered for the opening number of the federation's series of programs this season. Sharing the program with Mrs. Smith were Mrs. George Griffiths, vocalist and Mrs. Gerald Jennings, pianist.

Mrs. Smith listed beauty, reading, music, the out-of-doors, sentiment, sports, children, food, religion and work as "Ten Rooms in Your House of Life," her subject for last night's talk. Combining her own experiences and observations with humor and philosophy she gave her audience proof that lived to the fullest, each of the 10 rooms would make for a fruitful and profitable life for one's self and the world.

A whole room is needed to see the beauty of art, nature and the religion that is to be found in trees, the rivers and the many other gifts of God, she told her listeners, and she expressed pity for people with eyesight who have never learned to read. "If you read," she said, "you will never be lonely and you will never be poor. She described the out-of-doors, as a room a person does not need to furnish or decorate, and credited dreamers with making the world.

Mrs. Griffiths sang "Villanelle," by Eva Dell Acqua, "At the Well," Hageman and "The Little Damozel," by Novello. Her accompaniments were played by Miss Rosaline Manzo. Mrs. Jennings chose for her group "Ship on the Ocean," "The Valley of Bells," and "Sonatine," by Ravel, and "Sounds and Perfume Turning in the Evening Air," by Debussy.

Mrs. T. H. Sutherland, president of the federation, welcomed the guests and Mrs. Smith was presented by Mrs. Fillmore Young, program chairman. Mrs. Clara Campbell, president of the Marion Lecture-Recital club, announced the musical numbers.

Mrs. Smith left last night for Columbus and was to return to her home by plane this morning. She was to fly to Albany, N. Y. tonight for a speaking engagement.

SUPPER MEETING HELD

A potluck supper was followed by a program and business session at a meeting of the Golden Rule class of the Green Camp Methodist Sunday school, Monday night in the church basement. REPORT YUGOSLAVIA RELIGIOUS EQUALITY

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 7—Seven Protestant clergymen who visited Yugoslavia last summer say they found there "a genuine equality of religion before the law and the beginnings of a true tolerance."

The seven, who toured the country at the invitation of the Yugoslav government, released their findings made public yesterday.

After two and a half years of war, there are "tension points yet to be resolved" in Yugoslavia, "with the possibility of occasional outbreaks of violence," the ministers reported, continuing:

"But the basic patterns seem sound and the door seems open to a religious peace such as the Balkans have never known in the past."

Instances of government assistance were so numerous, they said, that they "indicated a general policy of help to the churches of all faiths at the same time that the principle of separation of church and state is observed."

The group said its questioning of religious leaders disclosed that the trials of clergymen or Monks accused of collaboration with the enemy or with sabotage were "individual cases. They do not in any way represent persecution of religious groups."

Composing the group were Dr. Guy Emery Shipler, an Episcopalian, editor of The Churchman; Dr. Emory Stevens Bucke, a Methodist, editor of Zion's Herald, Boston; Dr. George Walker Buckner Jr., editor of The World Call of the Disciples of Christ, Indianapolis; Dr. Philips P. Elliott Presbyterian, Brooklyn, who represented the Presbyterian Tribune; Dr. Samuel Trexler, former president of the Lutheran synod of New York; Rev. Claude Williams, director of the Institute of Applied Religion, Birmingham, Ala.; Rev. William Howard Melish, Church of Holy Trinity, Brooklyn Episcopalian.

AMISH

The action also impaired his health and caused expenditure of large amounts of money for medical services, he declared.

He said effects of the boycott made him feel "like a whipped dog."

In addition to damages, Yoder asked a court order restraining the defendants from imposing a boycott against him which would deny him "the right to exercise his religious liberty or his right to carry on his business as guaranteed him by the Constitution."

Six Ohio Amishmen See Horses Go High

By The Associated Press

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 7—Six Amishmen from the little town of Millersburg, O., remained here today for the closing hours of the annual standard bred horse sale, confident they could get some "Sunday horses" for $300, or less.

"We are not permitted to use motor vehicles," Levy Yoder, one of the Amishmen explained, "so we are anxious to get a few horses to use in driving to church on Sunday."

But they shook their heads yesterday when the bidding carried into four figures for most of the yearlings that were placed on the auction block, with one trotter, White Hanover, being sold for a record breaking $42,000

"We are only planning to spend around $300 for a horse," added Yoder. "Maybe if we stay around until the finish there may be a few left that we can take back to Ohio."

There were nearly 200 horses still to be sold when today's auction got under way, and everything indicated that more than $1,000,000 would change hands before the close of the four day sale.

FOUND SLAIN. The body of Mrs. K. K. Rand (above), wife of a Beckley, W. Va., dentist, was found shot to death along a lonely road near Beckley. Nearby was the body of a Beckley furniture store sales manager. E. Ray Bailey, also shot fatally. State Police Corporal H. C Fullmer reported the couple apparently were murdered.

Diamond Rings Sought As Double Murder Clue

By The Associated Press

BECKLEY, W. Va., Nov. 7—Three diamond rings today were sought by police trying to unravel the slayings of a Beckley businessman and the wife of a dentist.

State Police Sgt. Anthony Scalise said he had questioned Dr. Kenneth K. Rand, 46, and learned the dentist's pretty blond wife always wore the three rings.

Investigators did not find the rings when they examined the bodies of Mrs. Nellie Mae Rand, 38, and E. Ray Bailey, 58, after they were spotted Wednesday by passersby at the foot of a 200-foot embankment along a lonely road nine miles from town

They had been shot through the head and their bodies apparently rolled down the hill.

Their cars were discovered seven miles away but half a mile apart near the Black Knight Country club. Scalise said blood on the ground around Mrs. Rand's car led him to theory they were slain while the cars were parked together at that spot and the bodies driven away in Bailey's machine.

NLRB GIVES NEW RULING ON NON-COMMUNIST OATH

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7—The national labor relations board today knocked another prop from under unions whose officers refuse to take the non-Communist oath under the Taft-Hartley act.

The board ruled that such unions can't get on the ballot for a bargaining election even if they already hold a contract with the employer involved.

The decision came on a successful petition by the International Association of Machinists, giant independent whose officers have met the non-Red requirement, for an election at the New York metal plant of Migmund, Cohn, , Inc

The board held that the CIO Wholesale and Warehouse Workers, whose officers have not complied, may not appear on the ballot. The CIO union has had a contract with Cohn for more than three years.

MOTORIST KILLED AT BUCYRUS CROSSING

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Nov. 7—The second fatal accident at the West Mansfield Pennsylvania crossing in less than a month, caused the instant death Wednesday night of Lloyd A. Krabill of St. Joseph, Mich when the car in which he was riding was struck by the fast eastbound passenger train, the Admiral. Krabill's body was sent to St. Joseph, Mich., Thursday.

He was riding alone. His car, a heavy sedan, was demolished and parts of the car strewn for more than a block along the right of way. The victim was thrown from the car.

An accident at the same crossing a month ago took the life of William J. Ellis, Orrville trucker, who was also killed instantly when his truck load of scrap was struck by an eastbound passenger train.

ARMISTICE

will be commander, will assemble at Olney avenue, right resting on Center street, and will march upon signal from the grand marshal.

Alfred Whittington will command the second division which will form on Blaine avenue, right resting on Center street. It will follow the first division with colors massed at the beginning of the division. The veteran organization lineup will be as follows: Navy club, Air Force Association, Spanish American War Veterans, Bird-McGinnis Post No 162, American Legion, AMVETS, County Post No. 730, American Legion, G.I. Post No. 584, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Disabled American Veterans.

Assembly area for the third division, commanded by Dewey Bohyer, will be at the Ohio Public Service terminal building.

The fourth division, assembling at Garden street, will be commanded by William Roberts.

The fifth division of floats, with Albert Yeoman as commander, will assemble on the South side of Center street between Olney avenue and Park boulevard.

Dispersal area for the first division will be on Church street west of Orchard, second division on Orchard street north of Church, third division on Orchard south of Church, fourth division on Church street west of Union street, and the fifth division just west of Prospect street.

Judges for the awarding of ribbons and plaques will be Mayor Harry L. Dowler as honorary chairman, Col. Hubert Taylor, Major L. H. Burnham of the U. S. Army Recruiting service and E. O. Uncapher, safety-service director, marching units; Carroll Davidson, Mrs Fanny Benson and William Dowler, bands; and three Marion county commissioners, floats.

Basis of Judging

Units presenting the best marching appearance will be judged on neatness of appearance, alignment of formations, and precision of execution of movements.

In order for the units to be eligible for the award of the highest percentage of membership in some formation of the parade, the unit commanders must present to the judges or to the division commander who will in turn present to the judges a certificate showing the percentage of participation in the parade.

Bands and floats will also be judged by class for awards.

The United Veterans and Civic Council which has made complete arrangements for the parade, is composed of representatives of the various veterans groups and their auxiliaries, and civic organizations.

U. S. Seizes 2 Planes Headed for Revolution

By The Associated Press

PONCA CITY, Okla., Nov. 7—The United States has seized two privately-owned heavy bombers on Oklahoma airfields to stop their use in a revolution believed pending in South America, a government official announced here today.

Customs Inspector O. C. Millican of Kansas City made the statement after impounding both planes under a wartime law governing arms exports.

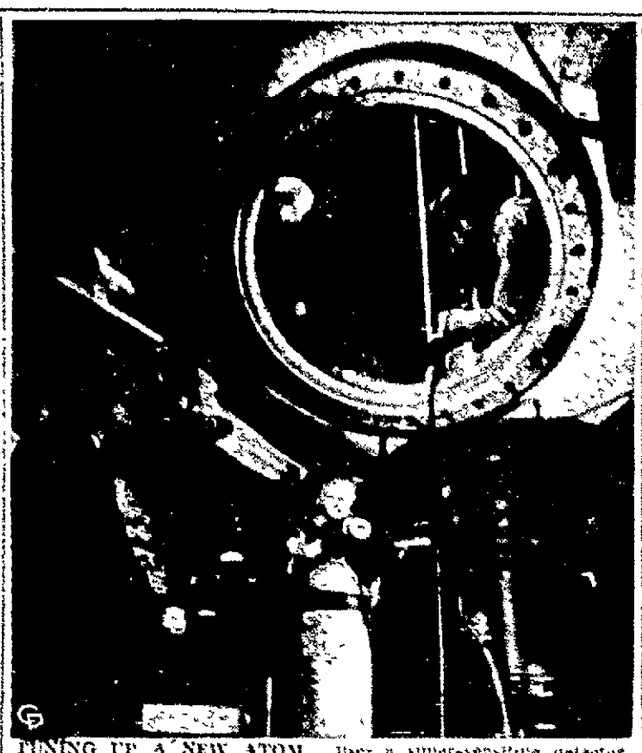

"We have been working on this thing for months, he said. "It involves a lot more than just two bombers."

One of the aircraft is a surplus B-24 Liberator held at the Tulsa municipal airport. The other is a somewhat similar Navy type, a PB4Y-1 privateer, seized yesterday at Ponca City. Both are four-engined planes stripped of their armament.

Millican said both were destined for the abortive expedition against the Dominican republic organized earlier this fall in Cuba.

DIES IN COLUMBUS

Word has been received here of the sudden death of Dr. Frank W. Harrah of Columbus, widely known urologist here and throughout the state. Dr. Harrah was on the staff at Grant hospital and was active in the Columbus Academy of Medicine. He is survived by his widow and two children.

TUNING UP A NEW ATOM SMASHER. Examining a newly-built atom smasher in Pittsburgh, Dr. William E. Shoupp uses a super-sensitive detector to make sure there are no leaks in the 10-foot long vacuum tube down which the atomic bullets travel before they smash into the target. The device reveals leaks so tiny it would take more than 3,000 years to deflate an auto tire. The atom machine will be used in new nuclear research.

CLIPPER FLIGHT HALTED

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7—A Pan-American Airways Clipper bound for Honolulu turned back because of trouble in one of its four engines last night and landed safely at San Francisco airport early today. Immediately after its arrival, at 1:48 a. m., the 23 passengers and then baggage were transferred to another Clipper for resumption of the flight which was interrupted by the mechanical trouble 1,080 miles at sea—about halfway to the Hawaiian Islands

MINISTERS RECESS

LONDON, Nov 7 — Big Four deputy foreign ministers working on preliminary phases of peace treaties for Germany and Austria recessed today because of the 30th anniversary of the Russian revolution

POULTRY

Altoona, Pa. Others arrived at food committee headquarters.

At Ithica, N. Y., poultry raiser Monroe Babcock reportedly had called up 25 of his colleagues in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, suggesting that each start chickens to Washington and tell their friends to do the same.

Wants "Insane Program" Ended

In yesterday's vanguard of arrivals were an estimated 100 birds.

In Richmond, Va., Rep. Harrison (D-Va.) said the 206,000,000 pounds of dead chickens in storage Oct. 1 "cannot swallow Mr. Luckman's corn even if the American people are supposed to swallow the corn supplied by his advertising agencies."

Harrison called for "an end to the entire insane program."

There was new fuel for the controversy department which said the poultry is glutting the market, prices have dropped, and cold storage space is getting scarce.

Nevertheless Secretary Anderson told a news conference that an estimated drop in the consumption of grain for animal feeds is an indication of the success of Luckman's drive. So is the clamoring of consumer demand for poultry, he said.

MONTH'S RECEIPTS LISTED BY COUNTY COURT CLERK

Receipts in the office of clerk of common pleas court for October were $3,157.10. Of this $1,096.54 was turned over to the county treasurer's office as the clerk's share of fees collected for services rendered during the month. This compares with a total of $6,950.04 collected during September of which $1,013.60 was turned into the county treasury. Fees include filing of court papers, recording notary commissions issuing automobile certificates of title, hunting licenses and various other services.

A total of $54.87 was turned over to the sheriff's office for service of summons and other papers arising out of court action. In addition, $49.51 was paid to sheriff's offices of other counties for similar services.

The bureau of motor vehicles received $330.60 as its share of fees collected in the certificate of title office. The balance of the funds was placed on deposit and has been paid out or will be paid out on order of the court.

CIRCLE ELECTION HELD

Mrs. Curtis Laubner was elected president of the Philathea circle of Emanuel Lutheran church Wednesday night at Greenwood Inn when Mrs. S. E. Sharrock was hostess. Mrs. Karl Dune was elected vice president; Mrs. Carl Hoffman, secretary, and Mrs. Edward Thibaut, treasurer. It was decided to send 12 reading course books to the junior mission band at St. John's Lutheran home at Mars, Pa., and to send $15 in cash with the annual gift of towels and washcloths to Grace Lutheran sanitarium at San Antonio, Tex. A Christmas exchange was planned for a dinner meeting in December at the home of Mrs. Ernest Cooper. Mrs. Mabel Fletcher read a paper on Thanksgiving, and contest awards went to Mrs. Thibaut and Mrs. Hoffman. Miss Clara Snyder was a guest.

PARTY NEAR RICHWOOD

Mrs. John McNamee of near Richwood entertained Saturday afternoon a group of 25 children in honor of the sixth birthday anniversary of her son, Charles.

St. Mary Boosters Plan Party After Grid Game

In keeping with a custom inaugurated this year the St. Mary football team, the Mt. Gilead team, band, faculty and coaching staff will be entertained at a lunch following the game tonight. Plans for the event were completed at a meeting of St. Mary Booster club Tuesday night in Moira hall.

Members of the parish and fans are invited to attend the party which will be held in Moira hall. As on pervious occasions the teams and staffs and faculty will be guests of the club.

The 1948 membership campaign, with a goal of 1,000 members, was launched at the Booster club meeting. Business included the election of Grazio Piacentino as treasurer of the club.

Decorations were in Halloween colors, and a large birthday cake centered the refreshment table. Present also were Mrs. Florence Ransome, Mrs. Ilo Patterson, Mrs. Richard Martin, Mrs. Maxine Robertson, Mrs. Frances Maloney, Mrs. Dorothy Wiley and Mrs Florence Adams.

HOSTESS TO CLUB

Mrs. Leon Huffman was hostess to the Willing Workers class of Fite Memorial Sunday school Tuesday night at her home on Darius street. Mrs. Carlton Burrell was an associate hostess. Mrs. Bertha Osborn conducted the devotions and the program was in charge of the hostesses. A song by the quartet was followed by contests, awards going to Mrs. Leona Sanderson and Mrs. Mary Simpkins. Mrs. Della Frost received the guessing box award. Mrs. Jennie Bay of Chicago was a guest. A Christmas exchange will be held and secret sisters revealed at a meeting at the home of Mrs. George Darling of Herman street.

GREATER OF TWO EVILS

By International News Service

ST. LOUIS — A 22-year-old youth appeared in a St. Louis circuit court recently and pleaded guilty to grand larceny charges. He was given the choice of a one-year term in the city workhouse or a two-year sentence in the reformatory. He took the longer term because, "I understand there are shops at the reformatory. I'd like to learn a trade while I'm serving my penalty." The request was granted.

A landlord can get relief on rental in several ways, he said, by petitioning the rent administrator for an increase because of improvements of a major nature, or by entering into a lease in writing where the tenant agrees to a 15 per cent increase in rent. Lease must be for one year from Jan. 1, 1948, and must be approved by the rent control agency or rent control board). If a tenant under written lease for one year moves out before the year is up, the rent is maintained at the same figure until the lease terminates. The property under the lease is then decontrolled, and rent can be charged at any amount.

Rent control can be terminated on certain properties by changing a rental from a single into a double. New homes are not under rent control, and if homes have never been rented until now, any rent can be charged, if landlords file a regular application for such purposes, Mr. Fetter said.

It was announced at the meeting that the following members of the Exchange club would attend the Ohio state Exchange officers conference in Fremont Nov. 9: F. Howard Lawson, secretary; LeRoy Retterer, president; Jack Arter, chairman of the board of control; Eric Paige, on the board of control, and Edward Smith, vice president.

The club voted to man Salvation Army kettles during the Christmas season.

PROSPECT MEETINGS

At St. Paul Lutheran church in Prospect Sunday morning, Rev. Paul E. Dobberstein, pastor, will preach on "The Question Must I Forgive?" Wednesday night, the Luther League will meet in the home of Robert Mueck. Missionary Aid society will meet Thursday afternoon. Installation of officers will be held.

STANLEY N. MYERS

WEEKEND MISSION PROGRAM ARRANGED

Two Guest Speakers at Emmanuel Baptist Church.

At the missionary conference in progress at Emmanuel Baptist church, Stanley N. Myers of the Sudan Interior mission, Africa, will speak in weekend services. Sharing this latter part of the conference will be Miss D. Dryer, veteran missionary to China. Friday night, a Round the World progressive dinner will be held at homes of various members of the church. Serving in Nigeria, Africa, since 1940, Mr. Myers has been engaged in opening new mission stations, and working on construction of buildings for the missions, including an eye hospital at which he is optician. He is in charge also of a church at Kano, and supervisor of five leper homes and 14 mission stations in absence of the district superintendent. His talks will be on his work among the African people, many of whom are Mohammedan. Miss Dryer will tell of the well-known China Inland mission founded by Hudson Taylor. Both speakers will show colored slides of their work and will display curios from the country which each represents.

For the Round the World dinner, homes of the hosts will be decorated in keeping with the country which each represents, and food served will be food which is the diet of the people of those particular countries.

The dinner will begin in "Palestine," home of Mr. and Mrs. William Graff, proceed to South America, home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul McAllister, on to "Alaska," home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Goyer, to "China," home of Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Hershey, and will end in "Africa," home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hough.

Jurors To Visit Scene Of Akron Payroll Holdup

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Nov. 7—Jurors trying Roy C. Blackburn, 27, arranged today to visit the elevator at the B. F. Goodrich Co. plant where he is charged with robbing a paymaster of $31,000.

Defense Attorney Stanley Denlinger told the court on opening of the trial yesterday that he would prove that at the time of the robbery last June 24, Blackburn was in Columbus studying medicine at Ohio State university.

Assistant Prosecutor Jackson Morris said coveralls and a shirt worn by the bandit and left behind contained the initials "R C B" on a laundry mark.

MARSEILLES SERVICES

An Armistice day program will be held at the Marseilles Methodist church Sunday at 11 a. m. Rev. Edgar B. Dean, pastor, announced. Worship service at the Wesley Chapel church will be at 9:30 a. m. At 8 p. m. at the Salem church there will be Youth Fellowship meeting and presentation of religious motion pictures, "El Navajo" and "Fishers of Men."

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

ONCE more I braced myself to withstand a reaction to my statement that Mary and Noel probably would not be present at the secret wedding of Olina and Georges.

But there apparently was no guile or double meaning in Olina's mind. Her answer was a little cry of dismay.

"Oh, you can't mean that, Aunt Madge!" she cried. "Mary and Noel not at my wedding! Why, they're my sister and brother—almost the same!"

"Besides," she went on, "with the pretty wedding you are planning, I simply must have an attendant. Faith will be the flower girl, of course, and equally of course Mary must be my matron of honor. I just couldn't be married without her! And Georges will have to have a best man. If Pietro were here of course, he would act, but in his absence Noel is the only possible one."

I visualized Noel standing at Georges' side during the wedding ceremony, keeping his jealous eyes fixed on the royal playboy's face to see whether his glances strayed from his bride to her matron-of-honor, and almost choked at the picture.

But Olina was chattering on, evidently almost "fey" with excited happiness.

"What is the reason for Mary and Noel not being there?" she asked. Then she caught herself, and answered her own question.

"Oh, I suppose Dr. Twitchell won't let Mary go," she said, and her voice was heavy with tears. "But I thought she was so much better! Don't you remember you and Uncle Dicky were talking about taking her and Noel out to dine and dance?"

"That has been postponed," I said, then resolved to tell her the exact truth.

"Dr. Twitchell hasn't been consulted," I said, "and as yet, Mary knows nothing about this plan. She was asleep when Mrs. Underwood came over to tell us my father wanted us at her home. All this has come up since."

"Then—why?" she stammered.

"It was my decision although it is not really a decision, only an opinion. She seemed so fatigued today that I postponed the party with us, and it seemed to me that the journey out there and the excitement of the wedding, together with the study of her lines, might be too much for her."

"I see," Olina said heavily. Then she brightened.

"I know Mary," she said. "She never is going to take into consideration what is good for her. She is going to do what she wants to do. And I know she'll want to be my matron-of-honor, and nobody in the world can keep her from it!"

"And Oh, Auntie Madge," she went on, "I'll do everything I can to make it easy for her. She won't have to do a thing but rest, right up to the rehearsal for the ceremony—we'll only have one. And surely you'll have her go out there long enough beforehand so that she will be completely rested before the wedding."

"Yes, that could be arranged," I said slowly.

"Won't you say you'll do everything you conscientiously can to have her there?" she begged. "You see, if she isn't, and I don't see—I'll never be sure—"

She broke off suddenly, and her face paled.

"I don't know what I'm saying," she said. "Please forget that last twaddle, but please, please, do everything you can to have Mary present at my wedding."

My mind was in a whirl. Olina was not as guileless as she had seemed. If her rambling words meant anything, they meant that she would never know just what Georges' real sentiments toward Mary were, if she did not see him with Mary at her wedding.

But of course I could do nothing but pretend complete misunderstanding of her words.

"Don't worry about anything, Olina," I said. "If possible, I will see that Mary is at the wedding."

OHIO FOOD PLAN SET

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 7—A food saving plan featuring a "food of the week" selected from plentiful supplies will begin Dec. 1, the Ohio food conservation committee determined yesterday during a meeting with Gov. Thomas J. Herbert. "Save the peace by the food of the week. Save wheat—save meat—save money," was the announced theme of the program. Featured food will be selected from those in plentiful supply during each special week.

Check Bowling Alleys On Working of Minors

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 7—Bowling alley operators occupy a No. 1 spot in the forthcoming "crackdown" on violations of laws governing the employment of children, says Carl G. Nappi, assistant director of the Ohio department of industrial relations.

In a speech before about 100 employers here, Nappi said warnings already had been issued to certain operators and that fines up to $50—or 90 days in jail—would follow.

The law states that no one under 18 may work in bowling alleys, but Nappi said the rule was relaxed during the war.

The industrial relations executive also said some drug store owners and factory industrialists still persisted in working women employees 12 or more hours a day in defiance of the law. They, too, will be sought out and fined, he said.

Ohio law recently was revised to permit working women nine hours a day. The old rule was eight hours, Nappi declared.

Motor vehicle registration in the United States during 1946 was about 32,511,000 compared with 34,383,345 in 1941.

Presidents Hope To Score Revenge Win Over Sandusky

Harding gridders leave tonight for Sandusky and a football tussle with the Blue Streaks who have yet to win a game this season.

The Prexies are seeking their seventh win and a revenge victory over the Sandusky team that surprised them, 27-0, last year after both teams had failed to win a game in seven starts. Hoping to avert a repeat performance the Prexies drilled on offensive and defensive plays in practice sessions this week. They'll keep a wary eye out tonight

Prexy Coach Pete Howison will probably start the same team that mowed down Circleville last week, 37-6: ends Peadon and Bishop, tackles Ralston and Upton, guards Menzer and Williams, center Short, quarterback Leffler, halfbacks Coss and Hill, and fullback Smith.

From Bob Short at the center position to Gene Peadon at left end the Harding line is experienced and rugged. Two fairly new starters on the line—"Punk" Williams at right guard and Dick Upton at right tackle—give promise of matching their mates to the left, but have been starting only since Dick Corwin and Jack Hoffman were injured two weeks ago. Coach Howison has called Bob Short All-Ohio material for his great defensive play, and Paul Menzer, Bob Ralston and Gene Peadon have given outstanding performances in games this season

The Prexy offensive backfield—Dick Leffler calling signals, halfbacks Jim Coss and Jim Hill, and fullback Clarence Smith—is a smoothly operating machine that has scored 166 points or an average 20 8 points per game this season Whether the Prexies kick or receive the opening kickoff, Dick Leffler doesn't start, but goes in on the first offensive play Dick Gherman dropkicks for the point after touchdowns and has made good nine conversions this season

Merle Daum, substitute center, will probably see action tonight in his usual role as line backer, and Roger Andrews and Kieth Bushatz will probably help out at end and guard.

DENISON FAVORED TO STAY UNBEATEN

Big Red To Play Capital; Dayton, Miami; O.W.U., Ohio.

By JAMES J. DAILEY
UP Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Nov 7—Denison, undefeated in Ohio and one of the select 25 unbeaten and untied teams in the country, seemed destined today to continue its winning streak past the week-end at least.

The Big Red, which barely squeezed by Muskingum 20 to 14 at New Concord last Saturday, will play Capital tomorrow at Columbus and the Lutherans are definitely below par this season Besides winning two and losing four so far, the Capital City team was smothered by Otterbein 45 to 6 Saturday.

Among other games in Ohio, the Dayton-Miami tilt shaped up as possibly the best of a bunch studded with out-of-state opponents

Dayton figured as the favorite on comparative scores even though Miami is undefeated. The Flyers must be given the nod on the basis of their 38-6 upset win Saturday over Xavier, a team which has tied Miami Dayton's only two losses were heartbreakers—14-13 to Toledo, and 19-13 to Chattanooga as the result of two costly fumbles.

Toledo will travel to Wayne, John Carrol to Niagara, Mt Union will play Allegheny, Bowling Green, St Bonaventure Heidelberg, Assumption, Case, Carnegie Tech; Kenyon, Hobart, Oberlin, Wabash; Youngstown St Vincent; Steubenville, Canisius, and Marietta will battle West Virginia Wesleyan.

Other games: Otterbein at Baldwin Wallace; Akron at Wooster, Wittenberg at Ashland Bluffton at Defiance; and Ohio Northern at Muskingum

Turnesa Wins North And South Open Title

By The Associated Press

PINEHURST, N. C, Nov. 7 — The golfing firm of Turnesa, Inc., holds another well-regarded honor today—the North and South Open title

Jimmy at 34 the second youngest of the famed New York family of seven golfing brothers, romped in first place in the 45th staging of the event, closing with rounds of 74-73 for a total of 284, four under par and a six-stroke victory worth $1,500.

Amateur Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O, led the non-professionals with 293, two strokes ahead of Felice Torza of Hartford, Conn.

PICTURE MAY CLEAR IN BIG NINE RACE

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 7—The Western conference 1947 football championship picture might be more clearly defined along about sundown tomorrow after four Big Nine games, or the picture could become too complicated for conjecture

The conference menu serves up Indiana at Michigan, Purdue at Minnesota, Northwestern at Ohio State, and Iowa at Wisconsin In a non-league affair Illinois is host to Western Michigan of Kalamazoo.

Indiana and Iowa are the respective barriers for Michigan and Wisconsin which must be hurdled before the way is cleared for a Big Nine championship football game Nov 15 in Madison between the undefeated Wolverines and the Badgers, who have a tie to mar a perfect league record

Purdue, now in third place with a loss to Wisconsin and victories over Ohio State, Illinois and Iowa, figures prominently in the picture especially if the Boilermakers get past Minnesota this week.

Michigan, bowling along the Rose Bowl trail with three conference triumphs and no losses, will meet in Indiana, a team that holds first place in defense in the Big Nine In their last three meetings, the Hoosiers have upset the Wolverines in two of them, while Michigan won the 1946 contest, 21 to 0

Wisconsin, in second place with two triumphs, no losses and a tie, has speed, improved passing and ideas that it can cut in on a slice of the Big Nine title The Badgers' speed and replacement make them favored over Iowa unless they fail to stop Al DiMarco's forward passes

Ohio Wesleyan Set For Ohio's Bobcats

Special to The Star

DELAWARE O, Oct 7—With his squad at full strength after the reinstatement of Frank Jacobs and Norv Mathie, and with no serious injuries from last week's game with Mt Union, Coach Glenn Fraser's Battling Bishops are prepared to invade Athens tomorrow afternoon to meet favored Ohio university.

Assistant Coach Bob Strimer who scouted the Bobcats last week when they met Cincinnati, believes that they are due to explode Ohio has lost its last four tilts after winning the first two. Wesleyan has won five while losing only to Baldwin-Wallace

Jacobs regular fullback, and Mathie, reserve halfback, were handed temporary suspensions two weeks ago after they broke travel regulations following the DePauw game They were not in uniform against Mt Union last week

Sports Chatter On This & That

By FRITZ HOWELL
OHIO AP Sports Editor

COLUMBUS, O, Nov. 7—This and that from here and there.

Russ Needham, sports editor of the Columbus Dispatch, believes there is the germ of a fine idea in suggestions that college football players, upon graduation, be given a sum of money by their alma mater to compensate them for their gridiron efforts

Needham says the plan would encourage the kids to get an education, would combat proselyting and recruiting evils, and would give the players a financial lift just when they need it Russ would mark any player off the post-career payroll who played a year or two and then quit, or who played through his three years of eligibility and then left school without a degree or diploma.

SPIV HARRIS. Mt Vernon News sports editor who just last week became the father of a seventh daughter (no sons), says rumors are flying thick around the Knox county seat

He said folks around Fredericktown are hearing that Ollie Cline, Ohio State fullback, will soon be married to an Urbana girl, and (2) that the blond bomber may quit the Bucks at the end of the season and sign a professional contract. Ohio State's coaches, "Spiv" says, are worried by the rumors they won't have the big guy available next season.

ANOTHER RUMOR making the rounds is that Kenyon College plans to spend $$100,000 for a government surplus hangar, 400 by 150 feet, to be used as a field house In the "fact" class, however, Massillon High school wants to play Hamilton's Big Blue on the football field next fall, and has offered Coach Chuck Mather the choice of three dates, all on the Stark county grid. All three dates are filled on Hamilton's schedule, but the schools are trying to switch so the southwestern-northeastern Ohio powerhouses can get together.

PAUL BROWN, coach of the Cleveland Browns, is nominating Bruno Banducci, San Francisco 49'ers guard, for the 1947 "act of sportsmanship" award, according to Jim Schlemmer, sports editor of the Akron Beacon-Journal

The incident, as explained by Brown, popped up in the Brown-49'ers game on the coast a couple of weeks ago The Browns were on defense late in the fray, and as they lined up guard Bill Willis' leg locked. The former Ohio State great slumped to the ground, groaning. Banducci was scheduled to lead a play right over Willis' position.

"In that split second between the collapse of Willis and the snap of the ball, Banducci saw Willis go down," Brown said. "He could have led the play over Willis, as he was supposed to do, trampling him into the ground. Willis was helpless. Instead Banducci threw himself atop Willis, bracing himself against his own team mates and protecting the injured Willis like a mother robin protecting her young

"He spoiled his own play, but he helped save a great ball player. It was one of the really great feats of sportsmanship that I have ever seen Willis' leg lock was only a temporary condition, but for Banducci's quick thinking, fast action, sacrifice and sportsmanship, Willis might have been ruined"

ANGELS TO MEET FORT WAYNE ST. JOE

Marion Safety Cab Angels travel to Fort Wayne, Ind., Saturday night for a Sunday afternoon football game with the Fort Wayne St Joe Athletic club

Angel Coach Gene Fetter said his boys rate as decided underdogs in the game against the strong St Joe eleven

"They beat us 31 to 0 last year and they're playing the same brand of ball this season," said Fetter.

Fetter will take a squad of about 25 with him Saturday night

The starting lineup will probably be the same that started against the Columbus Chippewas last Saturday night, ends Max Roseberry and Jim Gilmore; tackles, Charles Lust and Griffith; center, King Keller, quarterback, Leo Belknap, halfbacks, Bob Ivey and Bud Reams, and fullback, Bill Scott.

The Angels have won five and lost three this season They finished their Inter-State league season with two wins and three losses.

TOUCH FOOTBALL CHAMPS TO BE DECIDED TONIGHT

St Mary grade school touch football team will meet Silver street on the Central gridiron tonight for the championship of the west section in the YMCA-sponsored football program

Both teams have four wins and one loss.

The winner tonight will meet the champions of the east section —Greenwood—on the Harding field tomorrow morning Greenwood has won all five of their games

Nine St. Mary Seniors To Play Last Football Game Tonight

Nine St. Mary seniors will play their last football game with the Irish in the St. Mary-Mt. Gilead Mid-State league battle in the Harding stadium at 8 tonight.

Irish Coach Gene Fetter said all of them would start, though injuries have been bothering three of them—Tom Wagner, Dan Smith, and John Baldauf

Bob Stuber, a senior and regular halfback until injured, played his last in the St. Mary-Marysville game.

Wagner has been nursing an injured hip since the Richwood bruiser and Dan Smith injured his elbow last week. Baldauf has been out of school with a cold this week

Irish fans have scheduled a pep rally for this afternoon after school St Mary fans want win number seven and the Mid-State championship So does the team and they're ready to put up a big fight today. They've been pointing for Mt Gilead since they clinched at least a first place tie by defeating Richwood A win tonight will give them an unblemished record and undisputed first place

The probable Mt Gilead starting lineup reads ends Roller and Hart tackles, Kimmey and Decker guards Crawford and Hardman; center Galleher quarterback Kelley halfbacks Campbell and Lancaster and fullback Burnell

NEW CLUBS SWELL MINOR RANKS TO 53

Six Baseball Teams Organize Far West Loop.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 7 — The minor loop roster hopped to a new high of 53 today as President George M. Trautman of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues announced approval of the newly-organized class D Far West circuit

The new circuit is composed of Klamath Falls and Medford in Oregon, and Vallejo, Marysville, Santa Rosa and Willows in California. Trautman said two more cities might be added before the 1948 season.

President of the new loop is "Bill" Schroeder of Los Angeles who also is head of the Sunset and California leagues, but a new prexy is due to take over at a Nov. 17 meeting in Santa Barbara Schroeder organized the new circuit, but said press of other business would prevent him from remaining in charge

Four of the six clubs have announced big league affiliations Marysville will work with the Boston Braves, Medford with the Brooklyn Dodgers, Santa Rosa with the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Vallejo with the Cleveland Indians.

Trautman said the new loop will operate in one of the "very few areas in the United States which had been unorganized"

No Deer Here, Said He; Buck Jumps Up To Flee

By The Associated Press

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov 7—The 1947 Missouri deer season opened yesterday.

A conservation agent, patroling the woods, came upon a disconsolate hunter

The hunter leaned his rifle against a tree so he could use both hands to gesture complainingly because he had seen no game

Standing unarmed he had no opportunity to shoot at a nine-point buck that jumped up almost under his feet.

LOOKS FOR RAISE

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 7—Jackie Robinson, who said he received $5,000 salary his first season as first baseman for the Brooklyn Dodgers, says he is looking forward to a raise in 1948

Robinson, the first Negro major league ball player, talked of his baseball career last night when about 250 persons honored him at a testimonial banquet

NOTRE DAME GIVEN FIVE TD'S ON ARMY

Possible Rain Might Stop Irish Aerials, Trim Margin.

By The Associated Press

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov 7—Undefeated Notre Dame is favored to whip once-beaten, crushed Army by as many as 5 touchdowns, but an over-flow crowd of 58,000 may be treated to a rip-roaring, if mud-coated, surprise ending to football's most colorful rivalry tomorrow.

As this northern Indiana community began to pulsate with excitement over Army's first—and last—invasion, the weatherman threatened to throw a monkey-wrench into the best laid plans of the aerial-minded Irish and the bet-makers.

The weather prophet was not sure, but he said it looked like showers tomorrow which might cut the Irish down to size for Army's yeoman line and perhaps turn the fray into a dog-eared standoff as last year's scoreless tie, or other thrillers in the head dating back to 1913.

Army, reported stronger than last year from tackle to tackle and boasting a speedy backfield to defend against Notre Dame's heralded passing attack, has everything to gain and nothing to lose.

FOOTBALL COACH AT O.W.U. SPEAKS

Glenn Frazer Addresses Marion Kiwanis Club.

Glenn Frazer, head football coach at Ohio Wesleyan university in Columbus, spoke before Kiwanians in their weekly luncheon meeting program Thursday at Hotel Harding.

He explained the construction of a football by showing one to the group, and diagramed a number of plays, both offensive and defensive, on a large blackboard. He explained that the game of football can be a lot of fun if the boys try to make it that.

Coach Frazer recalled some instances when various teams had power and strength and yet were unable to win, declaring that the psychological angle also is important. He also gave facts regarding the history of football, referring to the number of changes which have been made in the rules in recent years.

Dewey Bohyer, Marion public schools athletic director, was program chairman for the day

E L Cleveland, club president, explained the Kiwanis club's part in the solicitation for the Community Chest drive in the follow-up campaign which closes Nov 15 The club will have the second ward to cover

An announcement was made that that a meeting of the board of directors this week, M Paul Hunt was selected as a director to fill a term held by Robert E. O'Connell, who will become second vice president in the year 1948 J D Torrance was named to the office of secretary for 1948 which will be his ninth term.

Guests were Edwin Miller of New York City, E. J Van Keuren Carl Knirk and D. A. Culbert of Marion, C. H. Weinburger of Columbus Rodney Fleming of Cuyahoga Falls, and William "Pete" Howison of Marion, head football coach of Harding High school

BUCKEYE-WILDCAT TILT NEAR SELL-OUT

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 7—Ohio State university's Buckeyes and Northwestern's Wildcats clash in Ohio stadium tomorrow in a meeting of the Western conference tail-enders, but a near sell-out crowd of 73,000 will keep Ohio State attendance figures among the highest in the nation

Coach Wes Fesler has determined all of the Buckeye starting lineup except one end position, but said Jim Crane, hampered by a chipped bone in his back, may start at left end if he feels in shape after warming up Saturday Either Dale Bonnie or Curly Morrison will get the nod if Crane is unable to start

Both coaches, Bob Voigts of Northwestern and Fesler, are in their first year as head men at the schools where both were former football stars of the team they coach

College Co-Ed Enrolls In Grid Coach Course

By The United Press

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Miss Beverly Bussey set a precedent at the University of Michigan when she enrolled in Wally Weber's class on fundamentals for prospective football coaches.

Miss Bussey, who weighs about 100 pounds, said she does not plan to play or coach football. She merely wants to become a sports writer and aspires to qualify for reporting.

Football knowledge isn't her only aim in the sports field The young co-ed took a course on fundamentals of baseball last spring and during the coming winter semester plans to take a course in basketball.

Island Pheasant Haven Proves Hunter-Paradise

By The Associated Press

PELEE ISLAND, Ont., Nov 7—This tiny island in Lake Erie (north of Sandusky, Ohio), is proving once again it is a pheasant hunter's paradise.

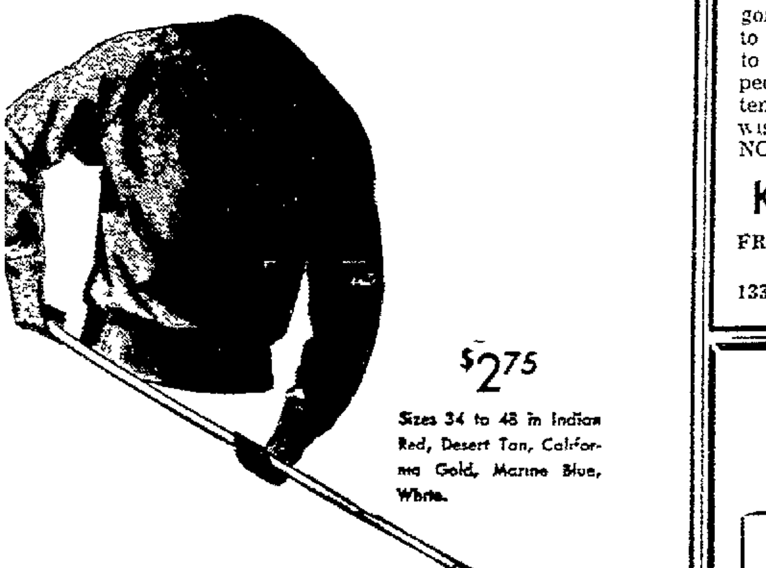

After the first day of the annual two-day pheasant shoot, most of the 700 hunters who invaded Pelee are agreed that pheasants are plentiful And the weather—overcast with a threat of rain through most of the hunting hours—has been fulfillment of a hunter's dream.

A party from Wisconsin reported there are about 16,000 pheasants crowded into the island's 20-odd square miles. Just how many were shot down from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m yesterday was indicated by one party of four hunters who bagged 42 birds. Despite a limit of four birds per day per hunter, a man may shoot on another hunter's license.

Residents of Pelee stand to do well financially because of a recently passed by-law which calls for $1 for each bird taken from the island Considering the 700 hunters, Pelee islanders could make as much as $5,600 There is a $5 initial fee for a license as well

HERE'S an ABC on the No. 1 stopper to the present talk of outlawing the Communist party

That stopper is the right of you, or any individual, to say what you think, worship any God you choose, or join any political party you wish.

That right is guaranteed by the first amendment to the U.S Constitution. It's the cornerstone of living in this country.

Under the protection of that first amendment, the Communist party has existed in this country for years.

The number of people in the party—party members are accepted pretty carefully—has never been large.

Total membership in the party—including now—probably has never numbered more than 100,000.

That figure doesn't show the full strength of the party. Thousands of people, not party members, are sympathizers or fellow-travelers

FOR YEARS, OPERATING under protection of the first amendment, Communists here have criticized the government and the American capitalistic system.

For years, in turn, the Communists have been attacked and denounced But the attacks on them never have been so strong as now.

Anti-Communist feeling is so strong now that there's talk of outlawing the party altogether, in spite of the Constitution.

But why, after all these years, talk of outlawing them now?

Here's why: Right now there's tension between this country and Communist Russia. Talk of war floats around.

Critics of the Communists—they included people who really fear Communism and those who for their own reasons hate it—argue:

▶Communists want to overthrow this government by force. Once they did, they'd wipe out the Constitution and all the freedom it guarantees

So why permit them to get the protection of the Constitution to come to power only to destroy it when they got there?

(The Communist party Constitution doesn't say anything about taking over by force. But, then, it hardly would say that.)

▶In case of war with Russia, American Communists would be loyal to Russia and work inside the U.S as a Russian fifth column.

So why permit any organization to exist here if it might be a big help to an enemy in wartime?

▶American Communists are really agents of the Russian Communists. Moscow pulls the strings. They can't be trusted from day to day.

THE SUPREME COURT HAS never given an opinion saying American Communists were Russian tools.

But American Communists carefully don't criticize Russian aims or views although they're free with criticism of this government.

Critics of American Communists point to the case of the Canadian citizens who, sympathetic to Communism, recently stole the Canadian government secrets for the Russians.

BUT ALL THIS GETS around to the No. 1 point mentioned in the first paragraph of this story:

The right of an individual or a group, guaranteed by the Constitution, to say what they think or join any political party.

Is that a right that can be taken away at any time? Or is it an unchanging thing?

Do we let a group enjoy the constitutional guarantees only so long as that group remains small and there's no danger from it?

And then, if that group grows stronger or there's danger of war, take away those guarantees for that group?

If so, is freedom under the Constitution only a name or a luxury which we give to the weak but withhold from the strong?

And, if the Communist party can be denied those constitutional guarantees today, may not some religious group lose them tomorrow?

But—and this is a point on which many sincere and honest people break their teeth—should we let this happen:

Should we give full protection of the Constitution to a group if, through that protection, it could come to power and then destroy the Constitution?

WASHINGTON

CHARLES W. PERELLE is a pink-cheeked young man looking a little owlish behind his thick-lensed eyeglasses. He spent 15 months earning $386,250 the hard way, room and board, plus five servants and an unwanted press agent included.

You've probably guessed it already. He worked for Howard Hughes, the Hollywood mult.-millionaire who built trick airplanes for the government with one hand and produced with the other a movie starring the curvaceous Jane Russell. The flying machines and the picture both are a matter of controversy still, though Perelle tried not to have anything to do with that throbbing drama of sex on the prairie, "The Outlaw." His lack of interest in the art of the cinema seemed to be his undoing.

Perelle, who told his story under oath before a senate war investigating subcommittee, was the distinguished airplane engineer Hughes hired away from Consolidated Vultee in 1944 at $75,000 a year, plus the pluses. These included the gift of a stock option he sold back to Hughes for $250,000 when he was fired, use of a mansion which rented for $900 a month, and food, drink, and the services of five servants, which set Hughes back another $29,000. If ever there was a well-paid engineer Perelle was the one. He claimed he earned every cent in mental anguish.

PERELLE SAID HE was supposed to be in complete charge of Hughes Culver City factory, where he was building for the government the world's biggest airplane and an assortment of photo reconnaissance machines Complete charge, hmpf, said Mr. P.

Everybody called the factory the Hughes country club and nobody wanted to pay any attention to the new boss. Perelle fired a lot of folks and along came a fellow name of Johnny Meyers, who threatened to fire him.

Who was Johnny? He was listed on the payroll as press agent, but he never seemed to do any work, so Perelle severed him from the Hughes aircraft payroll. Johnny remained on the job, the evidence has proven abundantly, but somebody else must have approved his expense accounts. Perelle didn't.

He was trying to get those flying machines built, to smooth over squabbles with Army procurement officers, and to keep Hughes away from the factory for a while, so the hired hands would recognize the new boss.

THINGS SEEMED TO be looking up after about a year, when Hughes casually borrowed one of Perelle's engineers to work on the advertising art, which later resulted in the plastering of billboards across America with pictures of Ja Russell at ease on a haystack. Hughes neglected to mention this to Perelle, who blew up.

He wrote Hughes a letter, telling him to quit swiping airplane engineers for movie enterprises. A while later Perelle got fired. Sen. Homer Ferguson, Mich., the chairman, asked why?

"Insubordination they told me," Perelle testified. "On account of this movie thing, I guess, though I never did talk to Hughes again."

The Hughes Tool Co paid Perelle his wages, slipped him the $250,000 for the stock option and then handed him a check for $29,000, to take care of the food and the servants. Perelle wouldn't pay it! said he lived in a guest house for Hughes' officials and why should he pay the bills?

The Hughes accounts put it down as a bad debt on their tax returns, but Perelle insisted it wasn't. Told the senators he would have paid it, if he felt he owed it. And indicated, without exactly saying so, that no amount of money could reimburse him for his sufferings in Culver City.

Roving Reports by Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

WHEN you travel a long uphill road you often can't see just where it's leading you, but after you climb a while you can at least look back down and see how far you've come.

That's the way I feel today. Ten years ago I walked down a short one-way path in a church, and then the traffic jam was unscrambled there I was—an innocent man married for life.

It has been really a trial marriage. Certainly a trial to my wife anyway. When I asked Frances on this anniversary what had caused her the most trouble during the last decade, she didn't have to think it over for a moment.

"You," she said.

I thought at first I ought to sulk about that remark, then I finally decided it was a compliment—in a wifely way. If they lose interest in you, of course you aren't much trouble to them.

MATRIMONY has convinced me that the angel who does the bookkeeping in heaven on the deeds of us mortals here below must be a woman.

Looking back on the last 10 years, married life to me seems pretty much a confused but generally happy blur, marred chiefly by a four-year separation brought about by the late Adolf Hitler.

But to Frances each event of those years—the bitter and the sweet—stands out separate and in complete detail like the beads on a rosary. I wouldn't have noticed it if the minister at our wedding had lipstick on his collar, but if I asked Frances today whether his glasses were bifocal, she would know.

Married life has taught me more, as it usually does a husband, as he comes to it with less understanding. Only three things come to mind offhand, however.

One is the wonderful discovery of breakfast. Before I was married I started the day off with a sack of peanuts and a bottle of soft drink, or else a dish of ice cream. I have come to believe that bacon and eggs are better.

The second thing I have learned is that a husband is doubly fortified in the battle of life by the fact that his wife—unless she is dumb indeed—has a wisdom beyond him that he needs. This is her instinctive feeling of what is best for him in the long run, which corrects the gaps in his own intelligence. Most men are fools if they make a major decision without their wife's advice The wonder to me is how bachelors get through this world intact at all Maybe they consult other men's wives.

THIRD, I LEARNED that it is impossible to understand a wife, but they love you to keep on trying. Knowing Frances likes anniversary celebrations, as most women do I went to her the day before our tenth one and said: "Let's have a night on the town."

"I haven't got time now to get my hair fixed," she said, "Let's wait until the same day next month and do it right."

It satisfied her that I had remembered. Since the tenth is the "tin" wedding anniversary I asked her what I had bought her for a present, and she said:

"A new tin rug, some tin draperies and a tin sofa"

Bookkeeper Saves Cash In Loan Co. Holdup

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 7—A bookkeeper was credited today with saving the State Savings and Loan Co. a large sum of cash because she rang a burglar alarm in the middle of a holdup by three men.

They got away with about $5,000 yesterday police said, but would have taken more except that Mrs. Helen Buchtinek, 40, pushed the alarm button as she was eating her lunch unnoticed in a back room.

Police believed the trio headed south in a maroon sedan with a license plate issued to a Macedonia, O., man.

TO REVIEW COURT MARTIAL

Calvary To Be Host To Church Meeting

Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church will be host Sunday afternoon for a Children's Workers institute for the southern district of the Evangelical United Brethren Ohio conference. There will be afternoon and evening sessions.

Opening devotions at 3 p. m. on "The Faithful Teacher" will be presented by Mrs. Robert Farley, director of children's work of the district, and a message, "Understanding Children," will be by Mrs. Helen Rutherland of Akron, conference director of children's work. A hymn, offering and roll-call will follow. Discussion on "How To Use Evangelical United Brethren Literature With the Children," will be held, with consideration of problems and questions submitted by members of the audience. There will be a literature display. Theme for a fellowship supper at 6 p. m. will be "Music for the Children."

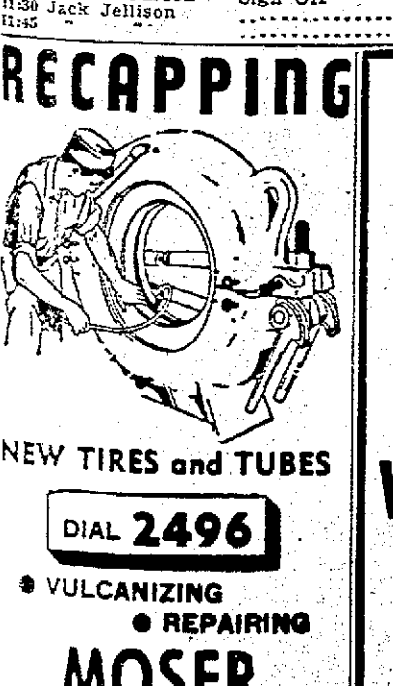

At 7:30, the evening session will open with worship, followed by special music, a message in the form of a moving picture film strip, "Let the Children Come," offering, closing meditation and dedication, and dismissal.

Colombia's largest Pacific seaport is Buenaventura.

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 — Modest improvement was displayed by assorted stocks today although many market leaders were at a standstill or slightly lower.

Potential investors brokers suggested, generally remained on the sidelines pending more light on business, congressional developments and taxes.

Slowdowns were frequent after a fairly active opening and mild irregularity persisted near midday.

American Smelting added ⅞ of a point at a 1947 top on an initial 1,100-share block in the wake of cash and stock dividends. Ahead at intervals were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, Southern Railway and Texas Co. Occasional laggards were U. S. Rubber, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, North American, Southern Pacific, Great Northern Railway, Pennsylvania Railroad and Anaconda.

Board of Health Revokes Summer Dog Quarantine

The quarantine on all dogs in the city of Marion, which was instituted April 3, 1947, was lifted, effective Thursday, at a meeting of the city board of health yesterday in the office of Mayor Harry L. Dowler. Dr. M. M. Weinbaum, city health commissioner, recommended the move to the board and it was passed by the members. The quarantine designated that all dogs were to be kept tied at all times.

ERROR IN ELECTION REPORT

An item in the Wednesday's Star reporting the election in Wyandot county was partially incorrect in so far as the result of the mayorality race in Kirby was reported. The correct vote was J. J. Cornely 49 and George Gorsuch 25. A typographical error omitted the name of Sycamore in reporting the election of D. J. Niebel as mayor.

GUESTS ATTEND DINNER OF BUSINESS WOMEN

Nine guests were present at a dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club at Hotel Harding Wednesday night including two girls from Harding High school business classes. The program consisted of "fun night" events including a debate, a talk on American Education week, a "hat sale" and music. Taking part were Mrs. Flora Gruber, Miss Lois Kraner, Miss Clara Alice Wilson, Miss Dorothy Buck, Miss Barbara Moyer, Mrs. Audrey Christman, Mrs. Florence Delwiler, Miss Mary Martha Luke, Mrs. Genevieve White, Mrs. Glenna Snyder, Miss Martha Fabian, Mrs. Fay Vestal, Mrs. Lucille Conrad, Miss Mary Shirk, Miss Polly Grindereng, Miss LaVern Lash, Miss Dorothy Haynes, Mrs. Edith Messenger, Mrs. Lucille Cunningham and Miss Pauline Oiler.

The program was in charge of Miss Mary Ann Bausinger, membership chairman, and her committee. Table decorations were toys, and places were marked by all-day suckers. Guests included Mrs. Norma Jacobs, Mrs. Lillian Quigley, Miss Hallie Houck, Miss Moyer, Miss Luke, Miss Grace Colegrove and Miss Grindereng, and Miss Joan Lash and Miss Oiler, the Harding students. Other members of the entertaining committe were Mrs. Mary Rogers, Mrs. Snyder, Miss Mary Faye McMillan and Miss Lydia Ebel.

Iran "Faith Healer" Ordered Out of U.S.

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7 — Avak Hagopian, self-styled faith healer from Iran, has been ordered to leave the United States by the immigration and naturalization service.

Immigration Commissioner Watson Miller said Hagopian, now believed in Los Angeles, was denied an extension of his visa Oct. 15 "but given a reasonable amount of time to leave the country."

Visa extensions are also denied Dr. Smbat Exhiasarian of Iran and George Sahagian (nationality unknown.)
